FISHING!

The President and Bride After Trout.

The Third Day of the Honeymoon is Pictured by a Correspondent at Deer Park.

DEER PARK.

The President and His Bride are Fishing To-day.

DEER PARK, Md., June 5.—The third day of the president's honeymoon could not well have been more beautiful weather. The sun shines warmly, but its heat is tempered by a delightful breeze which blows over the mountains and makes the most charming atmosphere. Quiet reigned supreme in the neighborhood of the cottage until nearly 9 o'clock when the tireless pacing to and fro of a Baltimore and Ohio detective was broken by the appearance on the portico of President Cleveland. He strolled to where the officers were standing, and talked pleasantly with them. He expressed himself as being most agreeably surprised with Deer Park. He had expected to find it almost a barren waste, but had found it a most picturesque and well ordered resort. The beauty of the cottages and surroundings pleased him greatly. Breakfast was brought over from the hotel shortly after 9 o'clock. About 11 o'clock ex-Senator Davis and wife called at the cottage, and in a few moments the president and Mrs. Cleveland appeared and were driven off. Mrs. Cleveland wore a dress of narrow colored material and the president was attired in a fishing suit. Poles and lines were visible and the party has evidently gone on a fishing expedition.

WASHINGTON.

Secretary Manning's Resignation Confirmed.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Secretary Manning, May 20, in a long letter to the president, tendered his resignation as head of the treasury department, because of his continued ill health. President Cleveland, in reply, earnestly requested Mr. Manning to accept a leave of absence until the first of October. On reflection the secretary accepted the president's suggestion and will allow his resignation to lie over.

THE FIRES.

The Record To-day and for the Month of May.

SAGINAW, June 5.—The fire in the Mann block last night caused losses as follows: Building $2,000; Heavenrich Bros., clothing, $1,000; Wolf, an artist, $500; fully insured.

OMAHA, Neb., June 5.—J. G. Schanpps' Planet roller mill, at Grand Island, burned yesterday, together with an adjoining elevator. It was one of the finest mills in Nebraska. Loss, $90,000; insurance, $13,500.

SCOTTDALE, Pa., June 5.—A fire last night consumed eight business houses. It was caused by the explosion of a lamp in the hands of a little girl, who is missing. Loss, $20,000; very little insurance.

New York, June 5.—The New York Daily Commercial Bulletin's estimate of the fire loss in May in the United States and Canada is $7,000,000, or $1,000,000 less than the May average for many years. There were 148 fires of $10,000 and more. Only eight of these exceeded $100,000, and only one (that at Chicago) made a very serious demand upon the underwriters. So far in 1886 the aggregate fire losses foot up about $44,150,000, which is somewhat more than for the corresponding period in 1885.

Tee Logansport councilmen failed to fix the salaries in the time specified by law and will have to serve for nothing.

Henry A. P. Hensel, 2 years, scarlet fever.

Mrs. Dan McGinniss, 32 years, cause not stated.

What You Ought to do.

Go to church.
Read THE SENTINEL.
Vote the democratic ticket.
Shoot the Bohemian oats men.
Advocate the temperance cause.
Aim to make everybody happy.
Love your neighbor as yourself.
Paralyze the lightning rod agents.
Assist the poor when they are deserving.

Kick the book agents off of the premises.

Be virtuous, and you will get to the front.

Love somebody, if it is none other than yourself.

Refuse to play penny ante, or any other kind of ante.

Mind your own business and you will have plenty of employment.

Treat everybody as though they were your equals, if not your superiors.

Never say anything about the living that you would not say if they were dead.

Never bid too high on your hand, even if you are in the lead. Sometimes people get "set" on a good hand.

Don't be a candidate for office unless you want to have the records of your forefathers and foremothers raked.

Don't bang, paint and chew gum, and above all, don't flirt. These things are all naughty and are not indulged in by good people.

Live upon the principle that honesty is the best of policy. And in case honesty and policy should come in contact let policy take a back seat. You will come out ahead in the end.

Papers are circulated for signatures in several townships restraining cattle from running at large. The county commissioners have it in their power to decide.

Ex-Senator and Mrs. McDonald left Indianapolis yesterday for Boston and New York. They will spend a part of the summer at Deer Park, Md.

The republican state central committee have decided upon Wednesday, August 25, as the day for holding the state convention. This date has not been officially announced, but may be taken as authoritative.

CHOICE BITS.

The News That is Culled for the "Sentinel" Readers.

Ex-Mayor James L. Mitchell, of Indianapolis, was nominated by the democrats for prosecuting attorney for Marion and Hendricks counties.

The city attorney of Wabash is paid an annual salary of $75.00. The attorney of the city of Huntington is allowed the handsome yearly pension of $250.00.

Hon. James M. Andrews, of Paoli, has carried the nomination for joint senator for Orange, Harrison and Crawford counties in two of the county primaries, and will accordingly be the nominee for joint senator.

The election at New Castle on the proposition to vote aid to the Indiana Midland railroad company to the amount of $40,000, resulted in an overwhelming defeat for the subsidy, only forty-seven votes being given in favor of the appropriation.

The state geologist has received samples of oil obtained from the Portland, Jay county well, at a depth of 980.1 feet. One of the stockholders writes that the gas from the well, as it is now escaping from a six inch pipe, makes a flame four feet in height.

The Rev. Sam Jones opens next Monday at the new hall in Indianapolis. Both of the evangelists, Jones and Small will be present. The papers and preachers of that city do not take kindly to their peculiar methods, and it will be interesting to note the reception they receive when they get there.

At the meeting of the Grand Lodge, Knights of Pythias of Indiana, the remarkable fact was shown that not a single lodge in the state had gone down during the year. While other orders were complaining of little or no increase in membership, the Knights were able to show the best year's increase in its history, nineteen new lodges having been organized and a net gain of 708 members secured.

Two of the largest sheets of finished plate glass ever turned out in America have just been shipped from the De Pauw American plate glass works, of New Albany, to fill an order for a large clothing house at St. Louis. These sheets are 160x124 inches in size, of a purity equal to the best imported glass, and to move them from the polishing room to the shipping department it was found necessary to cut two or three feet from the upper part of the doors.

Slightly Sarcastic.

"The gentlemen who lost money last year through their efforts to have a successful re-union are, this year, even more willing than ever to donate their efforts and means to secure as successful a gathering. Unsolicited patriotism like this should not go unrewarded. Let not our flag be dimmed by neglecting to give these self-sacrificing heroes a pension. Thousands upon thousands of soldiers and citizens visited the fair grounds last year and filled it to its utmost capacity. Citizens and soldiers alike, with patriotic impulse, donated nearly enough to defray expenses, yet the promoters lost money. Let us aid them again, the lesson will be a beneficial one in the present agitated condition of the country, for if a sham battle costs that much, agitators will be appalled at the expense of a real one," says the Monroeville Breeze.

A STATE ASSEMBLY

Of the National Union to be Organized in Fort Wayne.

In accordance with the proclamation of the president of the senate, the delegates from several councils in the state of Indiana will meet at Rathbone hall on Tuesday, June 8, at 2 o'clock, p. m., for the purpose of organizing and establishing a state assembly of the National Union. A grand banquet will be given in the evening at the Grand Central hotel, as a complimentary to the visiting delegates, to which all members are invited. An elaborate program has been arranged for the evening's entertainment affording ample opportunity for every one to become acquainted. Ke-ki-on-ga council hopes and expects to maintain its time honored prestige.

The Church Worker, of Indianapolis, says: "The children of our many Sunday schools did nobly for diocesan missions in their Lenten and Easter offering, notably the Sunday school of Trinity, Fort Wayne, which contributed $75, the largest sum of any one school. We thank the dear children for their deep interest and generous contributions for our diocesan missions."

GUILTY!

Is Maxwell, of Trunk Mystery Fame.

MAXWELL.

He is Found Guilty of Murder in the First Degree.

St. Louis, June 5.—The jury in the Maxwell case was reported to stand eleven to one in favor of conviction this morning. Some assert the one is an escaped convict. A complete investigation of this man's career is now being made. Maxwell bears up wonderfully well.

HE IS GUILTY.

12:15 p. m.—The jury in the Maxwell murder case have just this moment returned a verdict of murder in the first degree.

About noon the jury proceeded to take another ballot, which resulted in unanimity. The sheriff took the jury in charge and filed them to their seats, where they remained standing while the foreman read from a slip of paper: "We, the jury find the prisoner guilty of murder in the first degree." The prisoner was taken to his cell, where he will await the result of a motion for a new trial, which will be made upon the grounds of incompetency of the prosecuting witnesses and errors in the judge's instructions to the jury.

CROOKED CASHIER.

The Cashier of the Spencer Bank Short $16,000.

MARTINSVILLE, Ind., June 5.—Samuel Wallace, cashier of the Exchange bank, of Spencer, is short in his accounts of the bank about $16,000. Complaints against him and his bondsmen for that amount have been filed by the bank in the Owen circuit court. The explanation is that Mr. Wallace loaned money to his brother, without security, for speculation in Chicago markets.

Bitten by a Vicious Horse.

WABASH, Ind., June 5.—Intelligence received from North Manchester, this county, states that Kel y Quinn, a well known horse trainer, was attacked by a vicious stallion yesterday morning and so badly injured that he will die. The brute seized Quinn by the right arm, tore the ligaments out from the shoulder to the wrist and then grasping him by the left side shook him and wrenched a huge piece from his body. Help then arrived or the animal would have completed the frightful work. Quinn is terribly lacerated and lies at death's door.

"TIED UP."

The New York and Brooklyn Surface Roads.

New York, June 5.—For the third time in the first half of the year all the surface roads in the city are tied up. This time the tie-up includes not only Brooklyn but all the Jersey City roads as well.

HORSE CARS RUNNING.

JERSEY CITY, June 5.—The horse cars of Jersey City and Hoboken were running as usual this morning.

A Big Suit.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 5.—The western construction company has entered suit in the United States court against the Toledo, Cincinnati and St. Louis railroad company, to secure $1,800,000 stock of the Frankfort and State Line railroad company, held by P. H. Kneeland and A. A. Thomas in trust.

The Golden Rose.

MADRID, June 5.—The pope, on Whit Sunday, will confer on the queen of Spain the decoration of the golden rose. The papal honor was formally awarded once every year to some queen or empress who had deserved special recognition from the church.

CROP PROSPECTS.

Drouth Has Severely Injured the Wheat and Oats Crops.

CHICAGO, June 5.—The Times, this morning, prints several columns of reports from correspondents in Illinois, Kansas, Missouri, Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Tennessee, Kentucky, Iowa, Nebraska, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Dakota, on the condition of corn, oats, winter and spring wheat crops. The summary says:

"The general prospects of these crops, with the exception of corn, are to-day only fairly favorable. The very flattering situation on the first of May for spring wheat and oats has been materially changed for the worse by a term of dry weather in the northwest, extending over a period of three weeks. The drought has been very severe also in Kansas, where the oat yield has been cut down at least 50 per cent. As regards winter wheat, there are prospects for an average crop with favorable weather, but there are no indications of a full and excessive crop. The winter wheat crop of the country is to-day very uneven, and has run down in condition and prospective yield during the last thirty days. The harvest will be twelve to fifteen days earlier than usual."

CIVIL SERVICE.

Eaton Addresses Randall a Sharp Letter.

NEW YORK, June 5.—The Times, this morning, prints an open letter from Hon. Dorman B. Eaton to Hon. Samuel J. Randall. The letter is headed "No. 1," which makes it appear that Eaton intends to write a series of letters, as shown by this paragraph:

"You are chairman of the house committee on appropriations and are justly held mainly responsible for the action of the political majority of its members, of whom you are one, in affronting the president and in doing your utmost to defeat the execution of his civil service rules and reform policy by an unprecedented act of assumption and usurpation having for its manifest object the increase of congressional patronage, in which you have unbounded faith and of which you will certainly be able to secure at least your full share."

Sunday Liquor Law.

LONDON, June 5.—The house of commons, in committee, agreed last evening by a vote of 115 to 100 to an amendment to the Sunday-sale liquor bill providing for the closing of public houses on Sunday throughout England, except London and its suburbs.

$10,000 MISSING.

An Express Package Opened and Rifled at Van Wert.

CINCINNATI, June 5.—The Van Wert (Ohio) national bank received yesterday by United States express from the Union national bank of this city a package purporting to contain $10,000, but when opened it was found to be filled with cotton, pasteboard, and railroad advertising bills. The package should have reached Van Wert on Wednesday. The money clerk who received it here says he sealed it with green wax.

The way-bill for the run of Tuesday night had the package marked "short." When received the package was sealed with red wax. The delay of twenty-four hours in transit is not yet explained, but will doubtless give a clue to the robber. No thorough investigation of the method of substitution can be made here. Superintendent Cone, of Toledo, is looking into the matter.

The package would pass over three roads and through the hands of three messengers between here and Van Wert. This could easily explain the twenty-four hours' delay. The package was not sealed by the money clerk here, having been previously sealed by the bank.

The storage house of Hardy & Metzgar, oil manufacturers at Logansport, burned last night. Eight hundred empty barrels and other material were burned. Loss, $2,000.

KELLY!

The Great Political Chief-tain at Rest.

His Friends Throng the Streets to do Him Silent and Unostentatious Honor.

HONEST JOHN KELLY.

The Leader of Tammany Laid to Rest.

NEW YORK, June 5.—The funeral of John Kelly took place this morning from St. Patrick's cathedral. The streets and avenues adjacent to the house were filled with the rank and file of Tammany Hall democrats. Throngs of people had gathered in and about the cathedral, while the windows of private homes in the neighborhood were filled with people.

HENRY WARD BEECHER.

A Report of His Death Reaches His Son at New York.

NEW YORK, June 5.—12:30 p. m.—A report has just reached the office of a son of Rev. Henry Ward Beecher that his father died suddenly this morning.

LATER.

New York, June 5.—1 p. m.—It is now believed that the report that Henry Ward Beecher is dead is untrue.

THE LATEST.

3 p. m.—There is no truth in the report of Rev. Henry Ward Beecher's death.

THE BOGUS BUTTER BILL.

Provisions of the Measure That Passed the House.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—The house having passed the bill to tax oleomargarine, the provisions of the bill will interest and are in substance as follows:

Butter is defined to be a food product made exclusively from milk or cream or both, with or without common salt, and with or without any additional coloring matter.

Oleomargarine is described "as all substances made of oleomargarine, oleo, oleomargarine oil, butterine, lardine, suine and neutral; all mixtures and compounds of oleomargarine, oleo, oleomargarine oil, butterine, lardine, suine, and neutral; all lard extracts and tallow extracts, and all mixtures and compounds of tallow, beef, fat, suet, lard oil, annatto and other coloring matter, intestinal fat and offal fat made in imitation or resemblance of butter, or when so made, calculated or intended to be sold as butter or for butter."

Special taxes are imposed as follows: On manufactures, $600; on wholesale dealers, $400; on retail dealers, $48. The existing internal revenue laws, so far as applicable, are made to apply to these special taxes. Penalties are imposed on any person who shall deal in oleomargarine without paying the special tax. Provision is made for the proper stamping and labeling of every package of oleomargarine. A tax of five cents a pound is imposed on all oleomargarine manufactured and sold and a penalty is prescribed for the purchase or reception for sale of oleomargarine not branded or stamped according to law. A number of sections of the bill are devoted to providing machinery to carry the law into effect.

Indiana members voted as follows on the bill: Ayes—Kleiser, Howard, Holman, Matson, Bynum, Johnston, Ward, Steele, Lowry. Nays—Cobb, Browne, Ford. Not voting—Owen.

THE MARKETS.

NEW YORK, June 5.—Wheat, 1@10 higher. No. 2 red June 86 1/2. Corn, 1@1 higher, quiet, 32@44 1/2. Oats, 1@1 higher, very quiet, 35@44.

CHICAGO MARKET.

CHICAGO, June 5.—Wheat closed at 77 1/2. Corn, steady at 35 1/2. Oats, firmer at 26 1/2.

A RESIDENT of Wol Hill Prairie, Ind., caught a large wild turkey which was a partial albino. Some days later a flock of twenty-five wild turkeys was seen in the same bottom, among which was one bird almost pure white in color.

—The Critic.

What Religion Does for a Man.

A man without religion is like a man living in a planet unilluminated by the sun. He has trees, fruit, grass, and flowers, streams and hills around them, but they are only undulations of darkness; he has mountains, but they are gaunt and gloomy crags; he has streams, but they are chill with the touch of darkness and death; he has fruits, but they have no sweetness for lack of ripening sun; he has flowers, cold, colorless, dying; he has trials, but they are only painful ascents to be climbed with uneasy and unhoping patience; he has work, but it is cheerless, empty, and really aimless, for the chill stream of death cuts off all; he has prosperity, but it is hollow and unpalatable; he has friendships, but they are only for three-score years and ten. But religion lets a light upon all these. The sun has risen upon the mountains, and a crown of glory is on their crests; the light falls on their rivers, and they sparkle back radiance, and murmur along their banks with joy; the fruits turn a blushing cheek toward the sun, and every flower is robed in beauty; the sun rises upon life. Every trial is lightened with the light of God's love; every labor sparkles under the beams of his command and his providence; all success is sweet because it is a gift; all friendship in him is dear because clad in the vesture of humanity. Yes, who will not say, indeed, that he who chooses religion has chosen the thing most needed, and the best, because he has chosen that which gives strength, beauty, and true glory to all the rest? Is not labor dignified by the thought—"To this God called me?" Is not sorrow sanctified by it, for it says, "In this God is with me?" Is not success elevated by it, for we say, "He has prospered our handiwork?" Is not friendship intensified by it, for we say, "Then that sleep in Jesus will God bring with him?"

Atheism Among College Students.

"Quench not the Spirit" was the subject of a sermon preached by the Rev. Dr. Vermilye at the New York University. The occasion was a prayer meeting held in accordance with the custom of the churches known as evangelical to devote one day of the year to prayer for college boys, and the purpose of the preacher was to warn students against infidelity.

It is terribly dangerous, he said in substance, to undertake to pass through life without religious faith, for the unbeliever not only loses eternal happiness, but is also likely to go to the devil here. To show the practical results of unbelief he told of the careers of three college classmates of his "who were atheists." While they were students they fell into dissipated habits, "went about together participating in all kinds of wickedness"—and after they were graduated "one died a suicide, another a drunkard, and the third lives without any sign of religion."

And yet it is not a fact that a very large part of educated men in these days are just as destitute of religious faith as those classmates of Dr. Vermilye were, or pretended to be? Even many of the professors in our colleges are atheists, or, as it is now fashionable to say, agnostics; for perhaps the modern scientific questioning of the reasonable basis of theology—of all supernatural religion—has a stronger hold on such professors than on any other body of professional men.

Take, for instance, Prof. Sumner, of Yale College. Can he be anything else than agnostic? His lectures to the students—for some reason or other frequently reported in the newspapers—are directly at variance with the theories of theology and the whole spirit of Christianity, for he teaches flatly and with cruel emphasis that the scientific doctrine of the survival of the fittest should be applied to human society with all its logical consequences. The weakest must go to the wall, says Prof. Sumner, and the strongest must succeed among men as among beasts. The sentimental view of social questions he laughs at as unworthy of sensible and educated men, who, according to his notion, should watch without a quiver the progress of the struggle which is "hurrying on the survival of the fittest."

People will say that that is a true or false theory of society, according as they stand with reference to the modern scientific philosophy, but no one can deny that it is an utterly irreligious theory, and that it does violence to all the teachings of Jesus. It is not love and good will to men, brotherhood, the exaltation of the weak, and the community of feeling and of interest inculcated in the gospel of Christianity, but it is the glorification of strength—"every one for himself, and the devil take the hindmost." Yet Yale College has been in the past the seat of New England orthodoxy, and the school at which were educated so great a part of the preachers of the theology which Dr. Vermilye tells students they cannot give up without danger of moral ruin.

Probably his three classmates were only a little in their talk for the sake of creating the surprise and horror among their listeners in which the vanity of young men sometimes takes delight. They were atheists merely from bravado, and in the same spirit ran into habits of dissipation which subsequently brought two of them to disgrace and disaster. But Prof. Sumner is teaching the boys at Yale College to become agnostics from profound conviction, and to take in all seriousness the very view of life which Dr. Vermilye says can only lead to eternal death—to the destruction of the spiritual beauty of manly character.

If atheism, or agnosticism, has an effect so terrible, should he not tremble for the fate of the young men under Prof. Sumner, especially as most of them come from homes pervaded with religious faith, and the old theology tells us that the doom of him who sins against light, who quenches the spirit, is infinitely worse than that of the man who never has seen the light?—New York Sun.

POLITICES.

In making a poultice see that it is a large one—small ones do little or no good—from half an inch to an inch thick, the thicker the better, applied as hot as can be borne, and renewed as soon as it becomes cool. If covered with a piece of oil-silk, flannel, or thin rubber-cloth it will hold the heat longer and necessitate a less frequent renewal. The vessel in which the meal is to be mixed should be clean. Pour in the requisite quantity of boiling water, then add the flaxseed-meal slowly, stirring continually with a large spoon to prevent the formation of lumps, until it becomes stiff enough not to run freely. It should then be spread between two layers of old muslin and the edges folded over so as to avoid soiling the part to which it is applied. As there is no virtue in the material itself of which the poultice is made, it is not essential that it should be placed directly in contact with the skin.

In pneumonia of children a very important part of the treatment with most physicians is poulticing the chest; and, as this disease is quite prevalent during the winter months, it is right that every mother should be familiar with the manner of doing it. In the case of a child from one to three years old about a pound of flaxseed-meal should be used in each poultice. Take a piece of muslin or a large towel long enough to go all around the patient's chest, and of sufficient width when folded on itself to extend from the collar-bone to a few inches below the lower end of the breast-bone. The meal, after being properly mixed, should be spread evenly over one entire half, lengthwise, of the cloth, which should then be folded over and placed around the chest, with the open edge upward, and fastened behind; to prevent it from slipping down, which it is liable to do if the child is at all restless, it should be secured by a tape passing over each shoulder.

This poultice should be put on as hot as the mother or nurse can tolerate it against her cheek, covered with oil-silk or flannel, and renewed every five or six hours. When the cool poultice is to be removed have a fresh one ready for immediate application. Parents sometimes object to such large poultices, under the erroneous belief that, by reason of their weight, they will interfere with the child's respiration. We have had occasion to use them a great many times, and fail to recall a single instance in which the little patient suffered the least inconvenience in that respect.—Dr. J. Downing, in Babyhood.

DON'T FRET.

One fretter can destroy the peace of a family, can destroy the harmony of a neighborhood, can unsettle the councils of cities, and hinder the legislation of nations. He who frets is never the one who mends, who heals, who repairs evil; more, he discourages, enfeebles, and too often disables those around him, who, but for the gloom and depression of his company, would do good work and keep up brave cheer. The effect upon a sensitive person in the mere neighborhood of a fretter is indescribable. It is to the soul what a cold, icy mist is to the body—more chilling than the bitterest storm. And when the fretter is one who is beloved, then the misery of it becomes indeed insupportable.—Exchange.

It is our duty not only to scatter benefits, but even to strew flowers for the sake of our fellow-travelers in the pathways of this wretched world.

WOULD NOT COME OUT.

Six months after election. City Clerk, who has been elected by a handsome majority (to a friend)—"No, I don't want the office. Why, sir, it cost so much to get it that the salary hardly covers the expense. No, sir, no more of it for me."

Friend—"Then you will not be a candidate for re-election?"

Official—"No, I won't."

Friend—"I want to know positively."

Official—"I've told you, but why do you ask?"

Friend—"Well, I thought if you declined to come out I would run for the office."

Official—"Let me see you a moment." (Leads him to one side.) "It's this way with me: I don't want to run, but my friends are after me to come out. Well, I'll see you again."—Arkansas Traveler.

Is Your Liver out of Order.

Then is your whole system deranged—the blood is impure, the breath offensive, you have a headache, feel languid, dispirited and nervous, have no appetite, your sleep is troubled and unrefreshing.

To prevent a more serious condition, take at once a half tablespoonful of Simmons Liver Regulator, three times a day—it will soon restore the healthy action of the liver, bowels and kidneys.

"I recommend Simmons Liver Regulator to all my friends, as I have personally known it to cure all liver disorders and sick headache."

Francis Murphy heartily indorses the Dow liquor law just passed by the Ohio legislature, and says it will close one third of the saloons in the state.

In the Dear Old Days.

We differ in creed and politics, but we are a unit all the same on the desirableness of a fine head of hair. If you mourn the loss of this blessing and ornament, a bottle or two of Parker's Hair Balm will make you look as you did in the dear old days. It is worth trying. It is the only standard 50c article for the hair.

I think Ely's Cream Balm is the best remedy for catarrh I ever saw. I never took anything that relieved me so quickly and I have not felt so well for a long time. I used to be troubled with severe headaches two or three times a week, but since using the balm have only had one and that was very light compared with the former ones.—A. J. Alcorn, agent U. P. Ry. Co., Eaton, Co.

I find Ely's Cream Balm good for catarrh of long standing.—M. N. Lashley, 1334 West Chestnut St., Louisville.

REV. H. B. ERRELL, of Pavilion, N. Y., says of Gilmore's Aromatic Wine: "I believe it to be a most desirable remedy to be placed in every family."

WILLIS L. CULVER, of Pavilion, N. Y., says that Gilmore's Magnetic Elixir cured him of a long standing throat and lung trouble.

LADIES, Use Gilmore's Aromatic Wines for nervousness and sleeplessness. CONFINED TO THE BED FOUR MONTHS, and almost blind, and cured by one box of Gilmore's Neuralgia cure.

Hon. T. P. Keator is expected home
from the east Sunday morning.

The Muncie road will make a sweeping change in the running of their trains
to-morrow.

Mrs. Gust Rabus will leave in a short
time for Denver, Col., to visit friends
for six weeks.

Hon. I. D. G. Nelson returned to Indianapolis to-day. Mrs. Nelson will remain in the city some time.

Cas Hunter will take a party of friends
out fishing this evening. Bob Shoaf
and Charley McLain go with him.

Sophia Reebing et al. sue Rosina
Ropp for a partition of property. P. B.
Colerick is counsel for the claimant.

Tramps robbed the pantry or dairy
room at Mr. Thomas Jackson's residence
on Fairfield avenue night before last.

Two vagrants just released from jail
were sent back this morning for begging
on the street. Mayor Muhler sent them
over.

Ed. Hunsacker won the championship
badge at the shooting tournament at White's range yesterday. He proudly
wears it.

Henry C. Berghoff sues Andrew J.
Link et al. for $250 on a note. Coler-
ick and Oppenheim are attorneys for the claimant.

A new time card went into effect on the Pittsburg road last Sunday. The traveling public should note the change
in the SENTINEL time table.

The Pittsburg road has put on a new
train called the Crestline accommodation, leaving here at 11 a. m. and arriving from Crestline at 7 p. m.

Johanna Dow was to-day divorced from
Fred Dow by Judge O'Rourke. The
people are old and Dow is said to have
starved and driven his wife from home.

A change of time takes effect on the Grand Rapids road to-morrow. The morning train north will leave twenty minutes earlier, and the afternoon train
one hour and fifteen minutes earlier.

Sheriff Nelson brought from Indianapolis Lucine Boley, who was an inmate
of the insane asylum for four years. She
is better and is with her sister, on Melita
street. Her home is at Academy Station.

The last will of Gustave Miller is filed
for probate. He gives his daughters $300 each and to his sons $400 each. The money is to be paid in installments. Fred Hartman is bondsman in the sum of $600.

Yard Master N. E. Cook, of Andrews,
and A. M. Schmidt, of this city, expect
to leave to-morrow evening, on train 43,
for St. Paul, Minn., to attend the Yard-
masters Mutual Benefit association.
They go via Lafayette junction, taking
the Chicago, Indianapolis, St. Louis and Cincinnati railway to Chicago, and the Chicago and Northwestern railway to St. Paul. These roads will recognize
all members of the association upon presentation of their credentials.

Girls of marriageable age do not like
to say how old they are, but you can find out by following the subjoined instructions, the young lady to do the figuring: Tell her to put down the number of the month in which she was born; then to multiply it by two; then
add 5; then to multiply by 50; then to
add her age; then subtract 365; then add 115; then have her tell you the amount
she has left. The two figures to the right will denote her age, and the remainder the month of birth. For example, the amount is 822; she is 22 years
old, and was born in the eighth month
(August).

There was a big band tournament at Hurschtown to-day.

A number of the programs of Inland Park assembly have been received in the city.

Dr. H. V. Sweringen will lecture at the M. E. church at Huntington next Tuesday evening.

This is P. T. Barnum's farewell tour.
He says he will transport his show to Europe next year.

"Fort Wayne has abandoned the idea
of holding a soldiers' re-union this year,"
says the Wabash Courier.

The funeral of Frank Wohlfraam, aged
four years, will occur to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from No. 309 Broadway.

Mr. C. O. Essig, the genial bill clerk
of the Adams Express company, will
shortly lead to the altar a blushing bride
in the person of Miss Ella Brooks.

Beginning June 14, the congregation
of St. Mary's Catholic church will hold a fair and festival, to continue for ten evenings, at Library hall. Busy hands are now at work on novelties for the bazaar.

The Catholic Knights of America will run an excursion train to Cincinnati on Saturday, June 26. They will give a street parade in the evening before starting.

Adjutant General Koontz inspected
the Fort Wayne military companies last
night and expressed himself as pleased.
Col. C. A. Munson accompanied General
Koontz.

A well authenticated rumor is being
circulated that the Ohio Falls Car company will shortly secure the building of 2,000 new cars for the Pennsylvania
company.

A grand social will be given by the ladies auxiliary, R. R. Y. M. C. A., Friday evening next. The object is to give the public an opportunity of seeing the great
improvements made in the rooms.

The large Wabash pile driver that has
been in progress of construction for several months has been placed on a flat
car built at the Toledo shops expressly
for it, and will shortly be ready for service.

Mr. Charley Brackenridge has been appointed general agent for an interesting book detailing Lieut. Greeley's arctic expedition. There are 100 steel engravings in the book and the work is artistic.

The car report for May, 1886, shows
an increase of 924 cars sent out of the Wabash Andrews yards over the corresponding period last year. The totals
for the month were 6,845 loads, 1,161
empty.

Pentecost Sunday, one week from tomorrow, there will be a class of 125 for
first communion at the cathedral, and
the number for confirmation in the four Catholic churches will be 250. These
are great events for the young people.

Judge Hench made these rulings yesterday: Heister A. Wood vs. Mary A.
Derstman; finding for the plaintiff for $562 25, and for the defendant, August
Lorrier, for $336.40, and that both morgages are equal liens, and foreclosure of mortgage.

Supt. G. W. Stevens and Traffic
Manager S. B. Sweet, of the Wabash,
were at Huntington this week, in consultation with interested parties regarding the putting in of additional switches
at the lime kilns.

"Doc. Bookwalter and wife came down from Fort Wayne Sunday. They were the guests of E. F. Luse and wife,
northwest of this city, besides attending
the Decoration day exercises at Roann.
On Monday Mr. and Mrs. Bookwalter
gave the Plain Dealer office a pleasant
call," says the Wabash Plain Dealer.

To-morrow the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers will run an excursion
from this city to Jackson, Mich., where
a general meeting of the order is to be held. Grand Chief Arthur will preside.
Engineers from Huntington and Andrews will join the Fort Wayne party.
The Lake Shore has tendered the boys a special train from Fort Wayne to Toledo.

"Miss Katie Ennis was married in the Catholic cathedral at Fort Wayne, Tuesday, to a Mr. Lauer of that place. The bride and groom came to this city the same day and were given a reception at the residence of John Ennis, the bride's father. Quite a number of friends were present and many presents were made,"
says the North Manchester Journal.

The Wabash has adopted a new plan
of numbering the miles on the line of the road. Instead of the mile posts
along the track, a V shaped board is
nailed to a telegraph pole on the north side. The western side of this board gives the distance to St. Louis, and the eastern side the distance to Toledo. This is much better than the old plan, as it
enables the passengers to read the distances with greater ease than formerly.

"On Friday Mr. Jacob Bruner, of this city, attended the shooting tournament
at Fort Wayne and took part in eleven
matches, coming out winner in ten of them. The thermometer invariably
marks a very low temperature when Mr.
Bruner gets left at a shooting tournament. Bob Magee, another Wabash
"wing shot," also took a prominent part in the Fort Wayne shoot, and did moderately well," says the Wabash Courier.

Wednesday, June 16. A jolly time is expected. Tickets $1, at the office. The object is to provide new bath tubs.

Saloon men in this city have received
circulars inviting them into a state protective association for the purpose of
fighting high license as a political issue.

Hon. Wm. Fleming will build a big business block on the northwest corner of Brackenridge and Calhoun streets. The high board fence was taken down this morning.

"Mrs. Randall, wife of Hon. Frank P.
Randall, of Fort Wayne, is the guest of
Mrs. John M. Godown, No. 416 North Pennsylvania street," says the Indianapolis Times.

"Elder Lynch, of Fort Wayne, delivered an eloquent sermon Sunday evening at the U. B. church. Subject,
"Cause of the late rebellion and the benefits derived therefrom," says the Decatur Democrat.

"John Hessler, the old bachelor living
west of the city, was married to Miss Kate Shaley, of Fort Wayne, last Saturday morning at the Cathedral in that city. Democrat extends the usual congratulations," says the Decatur Democrat.

The third of Dr. Talmadge's "Labor
Question" sermons, discussing "The Genuine Hardships of the Working Classes," was delivered at Brooklyn and
is published by THE SENTINEL together
with other religious literature and news.

"S. W. Dodge, of Fort Wayne, was in this city Monday last on business connected with the Grand Rapids and Indiana railroad. Mr. Dodge is a favorite with the boys on the road. While here
he was escorted over the city by W. W.
Huntzman," says the Decatur Demo-
crat.

"James B. Harper, United States
commissioner, of Fort Wayne, was in this city on legal business. Jim is a jolly old bachelor and we can't understand why he remains in that lonesome,
unnatural state. Perhaps he knows, yet won't tell," says the Decatur Democrat.

Mr. George W. Thiebold, car inspector of the Nickel Plate at New Haven,
has been elected a member of the town
school board, beating "Squire O. D.
Rogers. The board has been reorganized by the election of C. A. Miller,
president; George W. Thiebold, secretary, and H. G. Schnelker, treasurer.

"The Lutheran people are opposed to litigation between their members. Perhaps to that circumstance is due the fact that so few Lutherans engage in the legal profession. There is not a Lutheran attorney at the Logansport bar. All differences between members of that society are settled within the church—a very sensible system," says the Logans-
port Pharos.

Heretofore nearly all of the local business of the Wabash going to Detroit and Toledo has been given to the Grand Trunk. An arrangement has just been perfected by which the Michigan Central and Lake Shore will get the greater portion of that business. By guaranting the Wabash better divisions of the traffic than it used to get that company
has been induced to rejoin the Red Line,
which runs over the Lake Shore, and
the Blue Line, which runs over the Michigan Central. This arrangement
went into effect June 1, and in this Toledo may have a chance to regain her old
prestige though she has little faith in the Wabash. This will send most of the business through Fort Wayne.

The weather indications for Indiana
are local rains followed by fair weather.

Warren Elwood, of Chicago, is the guest of John L. Robbins, of No. 20
Murray street.

Rev. Father Dehmig, of Avilla, was in the city yesterday. A good story is related at his expense.

Henry Rust has taken out a permit to erect a frame barn on lot 1 Bond's sub-
addition, to cost $275.

Phillip Rehm was arrested to-day for assault on Charlotte Hess, his aunt. Justice France heard the case.

The Wabash pay car was at Danville,
Ill., to-day and will probably arrive here
next Tuesday or Wednesday.

The sheriff has a writ to eject Asbury Todd, of Massilon. Christ Yous intituted the suit to demand $500.

Harvey Brokaw, a conductor on the Grand Rapids and Indiana railroad, is sick with scarlet fever. His child died
of the same disease a few days ago.

The people along South Calhoun street
are anxious that the poundmaster stroll
up that way. The officer says it is next
to impossible to get a herd of cows across
the railroads.

DOSED HERSELF.

Mrs. Dan McGinnis Dies From
a Mysterious Cause.

The papers have noted the serious illness of Mrs. Dan McGinnis, wife of the roofer, who is well known in the city. They live a mile from town and it seems that Mrs. McGinnis, who is a sufferer, made use of some potion.

She had locked herself in her room
and some parties heard a strange noise.
They rushed upstairs, broke in the door and found Mrs. McGinnis lying in death's agonies on the floor. Four doctors were instantly called, but their efforts to save the woman were of no
avail. She died last evening.

The woman leaves twin babies eight months old. She was noted as a medium
in a circle of spiritualists and it is said
her father Mr. Kiser died from poison.
The coroner had not acted on the case
at noon, and maybe he will not as Dr. A.
P. Buchman attended the woman and says she most probably died from spinal meningitis.

BOLD WORK.

Tramps Raid Two Stores in Nebraska.

The tramps have been unusually bold
for a week and their raids have been frequent, but of a trivial sort. Last night they broke into a cigar store kept
by a son of Joe Fry, in Nebraska. They
took from him a lot of plug tobacco, 150
cigars and other stuff. They broke into a shoe store near by and stole a $9 pair
of boots and two pair of boots left there
for repair.

The sheriff and his men and Marshal
Meyer and deputies made a raid on the tramps at every point in the city, but
no trace of the stolen articles could be found. Eight tramps were arrested, but all save three of them were let go. It is the purpose of the officers to clean the
town out.

The New Switch Device on the Pittsburg Railway.

It is reported that the Pittsburg and
Fort Wayne Railroad company is fitting
its line between Pittsburg and Chicago
with patent interlocking switches and
signals, by means of which the company
expects to save several hours in the movement of trains in its yards and increase the safety of passengers. A tower
will be built at Allegheny, Pa., where an operator can throw the switches and signals with one movement of a lever.
There will be forty-four levers and two
wheels. The system is said to be superior to that in use on the Pennsylvania
railroad.

"We have sold your preparation for rheumatism, Athliphoros, for the past year with perfect satisfaction to ourselves and customers," from Druggists
Smiley & Brown, of Maple Park, Ill.,
shows a mutual satisfactory state of affairs in that sylvan town.

New crinkle dress goods arriving daily
at the Boston store.

Ladies' Muslin Underwear at cost
price at Mergenthim's Bazaar, northwest corner of Calhoun and Main streets.

Not to Late to Decorate.

As this season of the year housewives
are busily engaged cleaning house and re-arranging furniture, etc. for the summer; and what would be nicer at the same time than to decorate the rooms
and ceilings of their residences. At this time you can do more for the money
than at any time in the future. The prices at which wall paper is now selling
will not last over another season. Take advantage of the opportunity. Have it done at once. But remember there is but one one man in Fort Wayne that can offer such low prices and give you
first class work also, and that is Yergens, 136 Broadway. Call on him.

Strayed.
From my residence, city, a black buggy
mare. No mark. Medium short mane,
long light tail. I will pay a liberal reward to learn her whereabouts.

FISHING!

The President and Bride After Trout.

The Third Day of the Honeymoon is Pictured by a Correspondent at Deer Park.

DEER PARK.

The President and His Bride are Fishing To-day.

DEER PARK, Md., June 5.—The third day of the president's honeymoon could not well have been more beautiful weather. The sun shines warmly, but its heat is tempered by a delightful breeze which blows over the mountains and makes the most charming atmosphere. Quiet reigned supreme in the neighborhood of the cottage until nearly 9 o'clock when the tireless pacing to and fro of a Baltimore and Ohio detective was broken by the appearance on the portico of President Cleveland. He strolled to where the officers were standing, and talked pleasantly with them. He expressed himself as being most agreeably surprised with Deer Park. He had expected to find it almost a barren waste, but had found it a most picturesque and well ordered resort. The beauty of the cottages and surroundings pleased him greatly. Breakfast was brought over from the hotel shortly after 9 o'clock. About 11 o'clock ex-Senator Davis and wife called at the cottage, and in a few moments the president and Mrs. Cleveland appeared and were driven off. Mrs. Cleveland wore a dress of narrow colored material and the president was attired in a fishing suit. Poles and lines were visible and the party has evidently gone on a fishing expedition.

WASHINGTON.

Secretary Manning's Resignation Confirmed.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Secretary Manning, May 20, in a long letter to the president, tendered his resignation as head of the treasury department, because of his continued ill health. President Cleveland, in reply, earnestly requested Mr. Manning to accept a leave of absence until the first of October. On reflection the secretary accepted the president's suggestion and will allow his resignation to lie over.

THE FIRES.

The Record To-day and for the Month of May.

SARASOTA, June 5.—The fire in the Mann block last night caused losses as follows: Building $2,000; Heavensrich Bros., clothing, $1,000; Wolf, an artist, $500; fully insured.

OMAHA, Neb., June 5.—J. G. Schaeppel's flour roller mill, at Grand Island, burned yesterday, together with an adjoining elevator. It was one of the finest mills in Nebraska. Loss, $90,000; insurance, $13,500.

SCOTTSVILLE, Pa., June 5.—A fire last night consumed eight business houses. It was caused by the explosion of a lamp in the hands of a little girl, who is missing. Loss, $20,000; very little insurance.

NEW YORK, June 5.—The New York Daily Commercial Bulletin's estimate of the fire loss in May in the United States and Canada is $7,000,000, or $1,000,000 less than the May average for many years. There were 148 fires of $10,000 and more. Only eight of these exceeded $100,000, and only one (that at Chicago) made a very serious demand upon the underwriters. So far in 1886 the aggregate fire losses foot up about $44,150,000, which is somewhat more than for the corresponding period in 1885.

Too Loganport councilmen failed to fix the salaries in the time specified by law and will have to serve for nothing.

Ethel Cook, 1 year, scarlet fever.
Henry A. P. Bernal, 2 years, scarlet fever.
Mrs. Dan McGinniss, 32 years, cause not stated.

What You Ought to do.

Go to church.
Read THE SENTINEL.
Vote the democratic ticket.
Shoot the Bohemian oats men.
Advocate the temperance cause.
Aim to make everybody happy.
Love your neighbor as yourself.
Paralyze the lightning rod agents.
Assist the poor when they are deserving.

Kick the book agents off of the premises.

Be virtuous, and you will get to the front.

Love somebody, if it is none other than yourself.

Refuse to play penny ante, or any other kind of ante.

Mind your own business and you will have plenty of employment.

Treat everybody as though they were your equals, if not your superiors.

Never say anything about the living that you would not say if they were dead.

Never bid too high on your hand, even if you are in the lead. Sometimes people get "hot" on a good hand.

Don't be a candidate for office unless you want to have the records of your forefathers and foremothers raked.

Don't hang, paint and chew gum, and above all, don't flirt. These things are all naughty and are not indulged in by good people.

Live upon the principle that honesty is the best of policy. And in case honesty and policy should come in contact let policy take a back seat. You will come out ahead in the end.

Papers are circulated for signatures in several townships restraining cattle from running at large. The county commissioners have it in their power to decide.

Ex-Senator and Mrs. McDonald left Indianapolis yesterday for Boston and New York. They will spend a part of the summer at Deer Park, Md.

The republican state central committee have decided upon Wednesday, August 26, as the day for holding the state convention. This date has not been officially announced, but may be taken as authoritative.

CHOICE BITS.

The News That is Culled for the "Sentinel" Readers.

Ex-Mayor James L. Mitchell, of Indianapolis, was nominated by the democrats for prosecuting attorney for Marion and Hendricks counties.

The city attorney of Wabash is paid an annual salary of $75.00. The attorney of the city of Huntington is allowed the handsome yearly pension of $250.00.

Hon. James M. Andrews, of Paoli, has carried the nomination for joint senator for Orange, Harrison and Crawford counties in two of the county primaries, and will accordingly be the nominee for joint senator.

The election at New Castle on the proposition to vote aid to the Indiana Midland railroad company to the amount of $40,000, resulted in an overwhelming defeat for the subsidy, only forty-seven votes being given in favor of the appropriation.

The state geologist has received samples of oil obtained from the Portland, Jay county well, at a depth of $80.1 feet. One of the stockholders writes that the gas from the well, as it is now escaping from a six inch pipe, makes a flame four feet in height.

The Rev. Sam Jones opens next Monday at the new hall in Indianapolis. Both of the evangelists, Jones and Small will be present. The papers and preachers of that city do not take kindly to their peculiar methods, and it will be interesting to note the reception they receive when they get there.

At the meeting of the Grand Lodge, Knights of Pythias of Indiana, the remarkable fact was shown that not a single lodge in the state had gone down during the year. While other orders were complaining of little or no increase in membership, the Knights were able to show the best year's increase in its history, nineteen new lodges having been organized and a net gain of 708 members secured.

Two of the largest sheets of finished plate glass ever turned out in America have just been shipped from the De Pauw American plate glass works, of New Albany, to fill an order for a large clothing house at St. Louis. These sheets are 160x124 inches in size, of a purity equal to the best imported glass, and to move them from the polishing room to the shipping department it was found necessary to cut two or three feet from the upper part of the doors.

Slightly Sarcastic.

"The gentlemen who lost money last year through their efforts to have a successful campaign are, this year, even more willing than ever to donate their efforts and means to secure a successful gathering. Unsolicited patriotism like this should not go unrewarded. Let not our flag be dimmed by neglecting to give these self-sacrificing heroes a pension. Thousands upon thousands of soldiers and citizens visited the fair grounds last year and filled it to its utmost capacity. Citizens and soldiers alike, with patriotic impulses, donated nearly enough to defray expenses, yet the promoters lost money. Let us aid them again, the lesson will be a beneficial one in the present agitated condition of the country, for if a sham battle costs that much, agitators will be appalled at the expense of a real one," says the Monroeville Breeze.

A STATE ASSEMBLY

Of the National Union to be Organized in Fort Wayne.

In accordance with the proclamation of the president of the senate, the delegates from several councils in the state of Indiana will meet at Rathbone hall on Tuesday, June 8, at 2 o'clock, p. m., for the purpose of organizing and establishing a state assembly of the National Union. A grand banquet will be given in the evening at the Grand Central hotel, as a complimentary to the visiting delegates, to which all members are invited. An elaborate program has been arranged for the evening's entertainment affording ample opportunity for every one to become acquainted. Ke-ki-on-ga council hopes and expects to maintain its time honored prestige.

The Church Worker, of Indianapolis, says: "The children of our many Sunday schools did nobly for diocesan missions in their Lenten and Easter offerings, notably the Sunday school of Trinity, Fort Wayne, which contributed $76, the largest sum of any one school. We thank the dear children for their deep interest and generous contributions for our diocesan missions."

GUILTY!

Is Maxwell, of Trunk Mystery Fame.

MAXWELL.

He is Found Guilty of Murder in the First Degree.

St. Louis, June 5.—The jury in the Maxwell case was reported to stand eleven to one in favor of conviction this morning. Some assert the one is an escaped convict. A complete investigation of this man's career is now being made. Maxwell bears up wonderfully well.

HE IS GUILTY.

12:15 p. m.—The jury in the Maxwell murder case have just this moment returned a verdict of murder in the first degree.

About noon the jury proceeded to take another ballot, which resulted in unanimity. The sheriff took the jury in charge and filed them to their seats, where they remained standing while the foreman read from a slip of paper: "We, the jury find the prisoner guilty of murder in the first degree." The prisoner was taken to his cell, where he will await the result of a motion for a new trial, which will be made upon the grounds of incompetency of the prosecuting witnesses and errors in the judge's instructions to the jury.

CROOKED CASHIER.

The Cashier of the Spencer Bank Short $10,000.

MARTINSVILLE, Ind., June 5.—Samuel Wallace, cashier of the Exchange bank, of Spencer, is short in his accounts of the bank about $10,000. Complaints against him and his bondsmen for that amount have been filed by the bank in the Owen circuit court. The explanation is that Mr. Wallace loaned money to his brother, without security, for speculation in Chicago markets.

Bitten by a Vicious Horse.

WABASH, Ind., June 5.—Intelligence received from North Manchester, this county, states that Kely Quinn, a well known horse trainer, was attacked by a vicious stallion yesterday morning and so badly injured that he will die. The brute seized Quinn by the right arm, tore the ligaments out from the shoulder to the wrist and then grasping him by the left side shook him and wrenched a huge piece from his body. Help then arrived or the animal would have completed the frightful work. Quinn is terribly lacerated and lies at death's door.

"TIED UP."

The New York and Brooklyn Surface Roads.

NEW YORK, June 5.—For the third time in the first half of the year all the surface roads in the city are tied up. This time the tie-up includes not only Brooklyn but all the Jersey City roads as well.

HORSE CARS RUNNING.

JERSEY CITY, June 5.—The horse cars of Jersey City and Hoboken were running as usual this morning.

A Big Suit.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 5.—The western construction company has entered suit in the United States court against the Toledo, Cincinnati and St. Louis railroad company, to secure $1,800,000 stock of the Frankfort and State Line railroad company, held by P. H. Kneeland and A. A. Thomas in trust.

The Golden Rose.

MADRID, June 5.—The pope, on Whit Sunday, will confer on the queen of Spain the decoration of the golden rose. The papal honor was formally awarded once every year to some queen or empress who had deserved special recognition from the church.

CROP PROSPECTS.

Drouth Has Severely Injured the Wheat and Oats Crops.

CHICAGO, June 5.—The Times, this morning, prints several columns of reports from correspondents in Illinois, Kansas, Missouri, Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Tennessee, Kentucky, Iowa, Nebraska, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Dakota, on the condition of corn, oats, winter and spring wheat crops. The summary says:

"The general prospects of these crops, with the exception of corn, are to-day only fairly favorable. The very flattering situation on the first of May for spring wheat and oats has been materially changed for the worse by a term of dry weather in the northwest, extending over a period of three weeks. The drought has been very severe also in Kansas, where the oat yield has been cut down at least 50 per cent. As regards winter wheat, there are prospects for an average crop with favorable weather, but there are no indications of a full and excessive crop. The winter wheat crop of the country is to-day very uneven, and has run down in condition and prospective yield during the last thirty days. The harvest will be twelve to fifteen days earlier than usual."

CIVIL SERVICE.

Eaton Addresses Randall a Sharp Letter.

NEW YORK, June 5.—The Times, this morning, prints an open letter from Hon. Dorman B. Eaton to Hon. Samuel J. Randall. The letter is headed "No. 1," which makes it appear that Eaton intends to write a series of letters, as shown by this paragraph:

"You are chairman of the house committee on appropriations and are justly held mainly responsible for the action of the political majority of its members, of whom you are one, in affronting the president and in doing your utmost to defeat the execution of his civil service rules and reform policy by an unprecedented act of assumption and usurpation having for its manifest object the increase of congressional patronage, in which you have unbounded faith and of which you will certainly be able to secure at least your full share."

Sunday Liquor Law.

LONDON, June 5.—The house of commons, in committee, agreed last evening by a vote of 115 to 100 to an amendment to the Sunday-sale liquor bill providing for the closing of public houses on Sunday throughout England, except London and its suburbs.

$10,000 MISSING.

An Express Package Opened and Rifled at Van Wert.

CINCINNATI, June 5.—The Van Wert (Ohio) national bank received yesterday by United States express from the Union national bank of this city a package purporting to contain $10,000, but when opened it was found to be filled with cotton, pasteboard, and railroad advertising bills. The package should have reached Van Wert on Wednesday. The money clerk who received it here says he sealed it with green wax.

The way-bill for the run of Tuesday night had the package marked "short." When received the package was sealed with red wax. The delay of twenty-four hours in transit is not yet explained, but will doubtless give a clue to the robber. No thorough investigation of the method of substitution can be made here. Superintendent Cane, of Toledo, is looking into the matter.

The package would pass over three roads and through the hands of three messengers between here and Van Wert. This could easily explain the twenty-four hours' delay. The package was not sealed by the money clerk here, having been previously sealed by the bank.

The storage house of Hardy & Melzgar, oil manufacturers at Loganport, burned last night. Eight hundred empty barrels and other material were burned. Loss, $2,000.

KELLY!

The Great Political Chief-tain at Rest.

HONEST JOHN KELLY.

The Leader of Tammany Laid to Rest.

NEW YORK, June 5.—The funeral of John Kelly took place this morning from St. Patrick's cathedral. The streets and avenues adjacent to the house were filled with the rank and file of Tammany Hall democrats. Throngs of people had gathered in and about the cathedral, while the windows of private houses in the neighborhood were filled with people.

HENRY WARD BEECHER.

A Report of His Death Reaches His Son at New York.

NEW YORK, June 5.—12:30 p. m.—A report has just reached the office of a son of Rev. Henry Ward Beecher that his father died suddenly this morning.

LATER.

NEW YORK, June 5.—1 p. m.—It is now believed that the report that Henry Ward Beecher is dead is untrue.

THE BOGUS BUTTER BILL.

Provisions of the Measure That Passed the House.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—The house having passed the bill to tax oleomargarine, the provisions of the bill will interest and are in substance as follows: Butter is defined to be a food product made exclusively from milk or cream or both, with or without common salt, and with or without any additional coloring matter.

Oleomargarine is described "as all substances made of oleomargarine, oleo, oleomargarine oil, butterine, lardine, suine and neutral; all mixtures and compounds of oleomargarine, oleo, oleomargarine oil, butterine, lardine, suine, and neutral; all hard extracts and tallow extracts, and all mixtures and compounds of tallow, beef, fat, suet, lard oil, annatto and other coloring matter, intestinal fat and oil fat made in imitation or resemblance of butter, or, when so made, calculated or intended to be sold as butter or for butter."

Special taxes are imposed as follows: On manufacturers, $600; on wholesale dealers, $40; on retail dealers, $48. The existing internal revenue laws, so far as applicable, are made to apply to these special taxes. Penalties are imposed on any person who shall deal in oleomargarine without paying the special tax. Provision is made for the proper stamping and labeling of every package of oleomargarine. A tax of five cents a pound is imposed on all oleomargarine manufactured and sold and a penalty is prescribed for the purchase or reception for sale of oleomargarine not branded or stamped according to law. A number of sections of the bill are devoted to providing machinery to carry the law into effect.

Indiana members voted as follows on the bill: Ayes—Kleiner, Howard, Holman, Matson, Bynum, Johnston, Ward, Steele, Lowry, Nays—Cobb, Browne, Ford. Not voting—Owen.

A RESIDENT of Wolf Hill Prairie, Ind., caught a wild turkey which was a palatial albino. Some days later a flock of twenty-five wild turkeys was seen in the same bottom, among which was one bird almost pure white in color.

STRONG STATEMENTS.

Rev. S. H. Troyer, of New Albany, Ind., states as follows how he saved himself from an attack which threatened serious results:

"On the 7th of June, 1884, I was taken with rheumatic fever, and for five weeks was not free from it. It then settled in my left foot, where it remained for about four weeks. Then it moved to my hips, shoulders, neck and collar bone, where it stayed until driven out by Athlophoros. Previous to the use of that remedy I had tried the skill of five physicians, from whom I obtained no relief. Then I resorted to the use of different remedies external and internal, but I continued to grow worse all the time until the 1st of October, when my druggist recommended Athlophoros. I had but little faith when I took the first bottle. At this time I was so helpless that my wife had to dress me, wash my face and assist me out of bed. I could not sleep more than from thirty to forty-five minutes at a time, so intense was my pain.

"My first dose of Athlophoros was taken at two o'clock in the afternoon, and I took two more soon after. The first dose gave me much relief, and the second seemed me greatly that I was enabled to talk freely and with comfort to my family and friends. The third dose enabled me to sleep four and a half hours without waking. I continued the use of Athlophoros until fourteen bottles in all had been taken. By this time my health was so much improved that I left off the medicine. That was in December, 1884, and I am now quite well."

Rev. Wm. Cool, of Denver, Ind., says: "I used only one bottle of Athlophoros, and I think it a good medicine. I consider that I derived much benefit from it."

"Athlophoros," says Mr. D. P. Sheets, of Mooreville, Ind., "gave me great relief in a case of neuralgia, and I can heartily recommend it to others as doing all that is claimed for it."

Mr. J. A. Wilson, the photographer of New Albany, Ind., whose offices are at Nos. 6 and 8 Main street, tells of one of these cases. His story follows:

"I had rheumatism but it disappeared after using only one bottle of Athlophoros. It was in my arms and I had sharp, shooting pains. I was suffering and complaining a good deal when a friend, coming into my gallery one morning, asked me what the trouble was. I said it was rheumatism. He told me of Athlophoros as a cure for neuralgia and rheumatism, and it struck me very forcibly, as it did not claim to cure every complaint that flesh is heir to. I bought a bottle on the strength of what he said. That was all I needed. I used the one bottle over six months ago, and have not had one ache or pain from rheumatism since."

Mr. Hiram F. Sides, of Fort Branch, Ind., says of his wife's cure:

"Her suffering from neuralgia was intense, and we concluded to try Athlophoros. Almost from the first dose I could see that she was improving, and two bottles effected a permanent cure, so that she feels no effects of her once dreaded disease. I tried it for rheumatism and soon found relief, one bottle clearing me. I shall take great pleasure in recommending Athlophoros to my neighbors."

If you cannot get Athlophoros of your druggist, we will send it express paid, on receipt of regular price—no dollar per bottle. We prefer that you buy it from your druggist, but if he cannot, it do not be persuaded to try something else, but order at once from us as directed. Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall Street, New York.

SATURDAY, JUNE 5, 1886.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

For Congress, 12th District,
HON. ROBERT LOWRY, of Allen.

A WELL-KNOWN New York lawyer, while addressing a country jury, got down on his knees to illustrate the manner in which his client prayed. The awkwardness of the effort provoked some laughter among the spectators, which the judge promptly rebuked, saying: "This emotion is disrespectful to the court, and unfair to the counsel. It is probably his first experience."

DR. W. F. CARYER, the well-known rifle-shot, says: "It is not generally known that an orange hit in the exact center by a rifle ball, will vanish at once from sight. Such, however, is the fact, and that is my way of making an orange disappear—shooting through the center, which scatters it into such infinitesimal pieces that it is at once lost to sight. Try it yourself, and see if what I say is not so."

A WOOD DUCK was shot near Eagle Pond, Ind., in whose under bill was a large hole through which the tongue protruded. The hole was evidently caused by an old shot wound. On the same shooting ground seven jacksnipe were killed which were marked with old shot wounds. Old Western gunners say that there is not a live jacksnipe to-day which has not had at least a score of shots fired at it.

The occupation of Jaehne, the convicted ex-warden of New York, is described thus: "He stands in front of a table on which rests a vessel containing some water, and from a bucketful of shirts which have been washed and wrung out, he picks out one and dips its bosom and wristlets in the starch. Then he lays this shirt aside and repeats the operation until there are no shirts left. He leaves off work at 6 p. m."

CHARLES ROSS, of Lyons, Ind., saw three swans flying toward him in a marsh at Bee Hunter Prairie. As they were about to alight Ross fired at them with one barrel, killing two and crippling the wing of the third. Ross captured the wounded one and drove it home before him. The town turned out to see Ross driving a wild swan down the road, and one man was so much interested in the bird that he bought it for $5.

The New York Supreme Court refuses to admit a woman to the bar, because the code regulating the matter has the word "male," but the Judge intimates that he knew how public opinion had changed in the matter, and the law can be easily changed by the Legislature. There are now about fifty women practicing law in the United States, distributed through more than a dozen States.

Among those who called upon the President, the other day, was a little man with a big pair of opera glasses, which he purposed leveling at Mr. Cleveland as soon as he entered the room. He waited impatiently, but when the President did appear the little man was yanked into line by the ushers, had shaken the Executive hand, and was out in the corridor before he had time to think of the opera glasses.

Among Southern and West Indian negroes a bottle of "obeah water" put under a man's doorstep is supposed to bring him the worst possible luck. It is worse than finding a white cock's head lying in the yard with the beak pointed toward the door. When a sorcerer wishes to give a mild touch of his supernatural power, he gets some one to bury near his victim's door a bottle containing a toad, a spider, rusty nails, muddy water, and other articles.

A story with just a suggestion of Romaine and Remus in it comes from Toulouse, where a working woman was in the habit of leaving her baby under a tree guarded by a faithful dog. As days passed she thought the baby's appetite failed, but still it thrived. One day she found the dog standing over the infant and calmly suckling it. The mother thought the arrangement a good one, and it has gone on, the baby doing well under the treatment.

The threat of the parents of Miss Morao, of Tarrytown, N. Y., who recently disgraced herself by running off to get married to the family coachman, to never have anything to do with their wayward daughter, is even a greater shame than that of the girl. She may have humiliated them, but they will only publish their own meanness by casting her off at this time. It would not change the fact that she was still their child, nor would it in the least help in relieving them of whatever discredit there may be in the marriage. Two wrongs will not make one right. It would be far nobler for them to swallow their disappointment and make the best of the situation. The girl has simply "played her cards."

HENRY SHAW, the public-spirited citizen of St. Louis, has just presented that city with beautiful marble busts of Beethoven, Verdi. Four others have preceded them from the same generous source: Beethoven, Mozart, Rossini, and Wagner.

THERE is a good story told by Mr. Boehm about the appearance of Mr. Gladstone's eyes when he is excited or angered. The sculptor was taking observations of the great statesman for a statue one day. Mr. Gladstone was laying down the law to Prof. Blackie in some Homeric question, and the sturdy old Professor declared his great friend was talking nonsense. "Then," said Mr. Boehm, "I waited for the first time that Mr. Gladstone's eyes could open in two directions, like a vulture's."

INTERVIEW with Gov. Andrew G. Curtin: I was disappointed in Martin Irons. He made a miserable appearance on the witness stand, bore himself badly, was the reverse of frank, and crossed himself an innumerable number of times. He is evidently a fellow of no particular brains, and it is a mystery how he holds his position with the order. The contrast between him and such a man as Powderly is marked in the extreme. Powderly is a gentleman of brains and culture, and a reasoner and thinker in every sense of the word. He is not to be mentioned in connection with such a man as Martin Irons.

The city of Paris has been treated to a typical French tragedy, such as only the capital of that country can furnish, and no one can understand. A respectable clerk married the daughter of a tradesman, and to all appearances the marriage was a well-adjusted match, and the couple seemed to enter upon their honeymoon with every prospect of bliss. When they were called on the next morning by the father of the bride, who wished them to take breakfast with him, the groom excused himself for a moment and told his wife to go on with her father, and he would soon follow. Not coming as expected, the bride and her father repaired to the lodgings where the groom had delayed, and on the way there met a cab just as it drew up before the door. It contained the dead body of the young man, who had committed suicide in a neighboring street, leaving a note explaining nothing beyond the fact that he had hired the cab with the intention of committing suicide in it, and hoping he would not fail in the attempt.

The statistician of the Department of Agriculture writes: "We certainly eat more pork than England consumes of beef, after duplicating the allowance of that prime article in the British nation; and we far exceed the French quota of all meats in pork product alone, and surpass by a still larger measure every other continental country. Iowa, Missouri, and Kansas have larger numbers of swine than all Russia, with 60,000,000 people to feed. Indiana and Illinois have as many as Austria and Hungary, and with Kentucky and Ohio, more than all the swine of the German empire; and Tennessee, Arkansas, and Texas more than the numbers of France. The wonderful elasticity of this industry is worthy of notice. As with corn, there is never a famine or a glut; a small crop will suffice; a large one only makes greater abundance and lower prices. In both cases the man consumption is at home. No good patriot can wish to export corn from the Missouri to Liverpool at a cost of 25 cents for transportation of a bushel, that may, perhaps, be bought for 20 cents, when pork or lard can be sent from the farm to the same market for a tenth of its home value."

THE Rev. Mr. Wardell, who has lately been traveling in Utah, addressed the Congregational ministers at Chicago on his experiences among the Mormons. The speaker talked of the admirable harmony that existed between the secular and religious affairs of the Mormons. He said that they go shopping with the fear of God in their hearts and even attend the theater and dances as a part of their religion. The great bulk of trade, he said, was done by an organization known as the Zion Co-operative Mercantile Institution, or more familiarly as "Zion's Co-op." The two main houses are situated in Salt Lake City and Ogden, and although the patronage of "the Saints" is not compulsory yet they find it to their interest to buy most of their goods from the institution. "The great disadvantage in Mormon life," said Mr. Wardell, "is the uncertainty of domestic relations and the consequent disarrangement of accepted social forms of that relationship. Now, there is one man I met and became acquainted with who married at one time a widow and her three daughters, and soon after her three step-daughters. Think of the relationship that existed between this man and his wives, his step-daughters, and him! Think of it! He was his own grandfather! Now that is not the most embarrassing thing about it. You may think it an exaggeration, but I know that it is a fact that often, very often, a man does not know his own children, and often doesn't know how many he has."

REMINISCENCES OF PUBLIC MEN.

BY BEN PERLEY POORE.

Sir Philip Crampton, the British Minister here, dining one day with some friends, entertained them with some anecdotes about Russian diplomacy, which he regarded as unequalled. As an instance, he narrated an incident that occurred in the reign of the Empress Catherine, when the British ambassador, Sir James Harris, drew up a long memorial against what was termed armed neutrality, which Prince Potemkin took to hand to the empress. The partisans of neutrality, getting wind of this, gaiped over to their side a certain Demoiselle Guibald, then about the Russian court, and imagined to be on kindly terms with Potemkin. This lady contrived to get by stealth the memorial out of the prince's pockets. Taking it to her employees, they added marginal notes answering the objections of the English ambassador, on which she as adroitly replaced the purloined document in his pocket again. The empress, seeing the memorial for the first time in its amended state, supposed the notes to be by Potemkin, which increased her desire to unite the powers of the North against England. The English ambassador was so charmed at the incident that he fell ill upon it and got the jaundice.

Daniel Webster had an angry and protracted personal quarrel with Senator Daniel S. Dickinson in the Senate in 1846, originating in the charge brought by the latter against the former respecting the Ashburton treaty. Two years afterwards the feelings left in Mr. Webster's bosom by that quarrel had been so entirely subdued by Mr. Dickinson's manly and patriotic course in regard to the sectional agitation, that when he left the Senate for the Department of State he addressed him a frank and generous letter, complimenting him on his course, and thanking him from the fulness of an honest heart.

Mr. W. B. Chandler, of Philadelphia, when a member of the House of Representatives, made a humorous reply to Col. Polk, afterwards President of the United States, who then represented a Tennessee district, and who advocated young America. Mr. Chandler begged Col. Polk to remember the trouble created by young Israel when Absalom incited it to rebel against that old fogey, King David. Absalom went in for a dissolution of the union of Israel. Had he waited he would have become king, but the result of the secession and rebellion was that the young man got hung by the hair in one of the trees in his father's forest, and was there slain.

Gen. Sherman's epistolary troubles just now recall to me a story which was told of his attempt to control the press, soon after he had taken possession of Savannah. Among those attached to his army was a well-known Boston reporter, who was called Tom Miles, although that was not his real name. Miles, on entering Savannah, found a vacated printing office. There were types and presses and all the paraphernalia essential to business, with a form on the press, which the printer had left in his flight, and Miles, taking out the editorial and other offensive matter, filled its columns with healthy Union sentiment, with the aid of one or two of the craft whom he had discovered in the army. His leader was a rich specimen of crowing over the victory, in which he extolled Gen. Sherman as the greatest hero since Alexander, and his army the finest and best disciplined that the world ever saw. With this grand flourish of trumpets the first number was issued, and Miles lay back in his editorial chair, contemplating his work with the belief that he had achieved the next triumph to Sherman's, and wondering what the conqueror would say when he saw the praises he had heaped upon him. The next morning, as the General and his staff were about taking breakfast, a paper was handed to him—the Savannah Republican, I think—and he commenced to read the leader which was so lavish in his praise.

"Look here!" said he, red and furious. "What the d—l does this mean? Who knows anything about this paper?"

His orderly, who had known something about its preparation, explained to him that it was the work of one of the literary gentlemen who had followed the expedition.

"Well," said the General, "go down to the office and tell him to discontinue his paper or I'll put him under guard. I won't have such cursed stuff printed about me when I can prevent it. Abuse is bad enough, but this is a damned sight worse."

Down went the orderly, and the confusion of poor Miles was overwhelming when he got the squelcher from the general commanding.

"Why, it was all praise," said he.

"No matter for that. If it had been the other way it would have been treated just the same."

So Miles moved a compromise—I hardly know what—and urged the official to express his regrets and beg the removal of the injunction, and soon the officer came back to inform him that permission was granted him to run his paper, on condition that he should never mention the General's name again. This was agreed to, and the paper appeared. After a day or two an aide came down one morning with an order from Gen. Sherman for publication. Miles glanced over it and handed it back.

"It can't go in, sir," said he.

"Why not?" asked the astonished messenger, who was a stranger.

"Because it has Sherman's name to it," was the reply.

"That's the reason why it must go in," urged the aide.

"And that's the reason why it shan't. He stopped my paper for praising him, and I promised him that his name should never appear in my columns again, and hang me if it shall."

Miles stood resolute, and the officer returned for orders, expecting the ordering out of a file of men and an arrest, but was astonished to see the General burst into the heartiest laugh and hear him confess that the printer had the best of it. The messenger was sent back with a conciliatory note, and there was no more trouble.

Gen. Hayes created no sensation while a member of the House of Representatives. He was open, candid and affable, having but little to say, but that to the point. Erect and soldier-like in appearance, with large blue eyes, beaming with manly courage and sympathy, plain but neat in his dress, and unaffected in his conversation, it was said of him that he never smoked a cigar, never drank whiskey, and never told an obscene story. His name was not mentioned in connection with the Presidential chair, but, when, after he had been elected Governor of Ohio, it was brought forward, those who had known him when in Congress exclaimed, "He will be the right man in the right place."

HAPPY ACCIDENTS.

Many accidents, very trifling in themselves, have led to the most valuable discoveries and inventions. Some of them, perhaps, are not so familiar to all of us as the fact that the swaying chandelier in a cathedral suggested to Galileo the application of the pendulum. How few know that for the method of refining sugar with wet clay we are indebted to a hen! Having just returned from a promenade over a neighboring moist clay bank, she stepped into a ladle of brown sugar lying on the floor, and wherever her tracks were found the sugar was thoroughly whitened. But if old Biddy's sojourn that day had been among those who having eyes see not, and having ears hear not, her valuable lesson would not have been learned. It is the observant only who put to use these "trifles light as air." While holding a pair of spectacles between his thumb and finger, a watchmaker's apprentice was surprised at the sudden enlarged appearance of a near church spire, and thus was discovered the power of lenses as applied to telescopes, opera glasses, etc. The truth of the proverb that "Necessity is the mother of invention" was never more clearly proven, perhaps, than by the discovery of the art of lithography. The poverty of a musician induced him to try the experiment of etching music upon stone instead of copper. Just as he had his slab prepared for the trial, his mother asked him to make out a memorandum of the clothes for the laundry. Pen, ink, and paper being inconvenient, he wrote the list upon the stone with the etching preparation, intending to make a copy of it at leisure. When about to clean the stone, a few days later, he was suddenly seized with the desire to try the effect of aquafortis upon it, and lo! in a few moments the writing stood out in bold relief. The next step necessary was to ink the stone and take off the impression. Tinted paper, so dear to the aesthetic maiden's heart, had its origin in a very proxy accident. The wife of an English paper-maker dropped a blue bag in one of the vats of pulp, and was so frightened at the consternation it caused among the workmen, and at the anger of her husband, that she had not the courage to confess her carelessness, and the damaged paper was stored for several years, when it was sent to a London agent to be sold for what it would bring. The paper was accepted as a novelty, and disposed of quite profitably, and the manufacturer received an order for a large invoice of the same, whereupon the wife acknowledged the accident of the blue bag, which in time led on to fortune. A glass tumbler accidentally spilled a few drops of aquafortis upon his eyeglasses, and noticed that they became corroded and softened thereby. He put on his thinking cap, and the result was a drawing of a set of figures upon glass with varnish, afterwards applying the corroding fluid and cutting away the glass around the drawing. When the varnish was removed, the figures appeared raised upon a dark ground. A paper-maker one day strolled through a field, and thoughtlessly plucked a few straws and put them in his mouth, where, to his surprise, they were soon reduced to a pulpy matter closely resembling the substance from which paper is made. He set to work to try the experiment in his mill, and after great perseverance, paper was manufactured out of straw.

The average Rhode Island farmer, says a Providence letter, "depends for a living on eating the rocks from his land to the city, to be sold for 75 cents a ton. Rocks are about the only crop many of the farms yield, and it has the advantage of being perennial, and can be always gathered."

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength, and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and can not be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in packages. # A National Cattle Trail.

I have said that the annual drive from Texas will probably be from 750,000 to 1,000,000 cattle. A large proportion of these will be stock cattle—cows, heifers, and young steers. Where are these cattle to be held until fit for market? At the Cattle Growers' Convention, held in St. Louis, November, 1884, the Texas cattle growers were unanimous in advocating the creation of a national cattle trail, six miles wide, and extending from Texas to our northern boundary. The Northern graziers opposed the proposed trail on the ground that the Texas cattle, were infected with a disease known in the business as Spanish fever. They asserted—and truthfully, too—that the driving of through Texas cattle along the trail would infect their herds. The Spanish fever does not injure Texas cattle; but all native cattle—that is, all Northern stock, no matter what their blood—catch the disease by grazing on the ground over which through Texas cattle have passed, and they generally die. Here were two parties disputing about a fact that both knew to be a fact, both earnestly endeavoring to conceal their real hopes and fears. There are Territorial and State laws in force in the West that forbid the driving of through Texas cattle on the many ranges. A national law enacted for the purpose of providing a cattle trail would override these local laws, which many lawyers pronounce unconstitutional, and open the Northern grazing ground to the Texas cattle. The Southern stock-growers want the trail created so that they can drive young steers that are strong enough to endure the severe winters of the Northwest through to the bunch and buffalo grass pastures of Wyoming and Montana in one season, and so avert overstocking their home range, which is secure from invasion of Northern herds, as no native cattle can be driven on to the grazing ground of Texas and live. The Spanish fever stalks abroad there. The Northern men assert and re-assert that the opening of the trail would endanger their herds. They ignore the fact that the first heavy frost kills the Spanish fever, and ends all danger. They endeavor to conceal their real reason for opposing the opening of the trail, which is the danger of overstocking the Northern grazing ground if the Texas men are allowed to drive their surplus steers there. They dread having from 200,000 to 300,000 young steers annually driven North to feed on a range that they all realize will, under the present land laws, be speedily overstocked, and eventually destroyed, and destroyed by the greed of the cattle men.

Underlying all talk of renting the public lands, or of buying them, and of any and all schemes concerning the disposition to be made of the public domain that emanate from the cattle-growers, is the determined purpose to secure the land, and to place it under the control of the cattle-growing associations, and then limit the number of cattle that shall be allowed to graze on it. The spectre that is ever present to the Northern cattle-growers is overstocking. All talk of their desire to conserve the public domain is false. They desire to secure absolute possession of the range; and if they succeed, they will surely stop agricultural settlers from entering the wild belt to acquire low-lying farms along the streams as if they owned them in fee-simple. —Frank Wilkinson, in Harper's Magazine.

MANUAL TRAINING IN THE UNITED STATES.

The progress of manual training in the United States during the last few years has been very great, whether it be considered from the standpoint of the growth of public sentiment on the subject, or from that of its introduction to existing schools, public and private, and the establishment of independent schools. It is in some form in certain of the schools of twenty-five of the States of the Union, and there are at least forty educational institutions in the country where it is made part of the course of instruction. The character of the schools into which manual training has been introduced is varied. The range is from the most noted colleges and universities in the land to the public schools of small cities. —Charles H. Ham, in Harper's Magazine.

FRIENDS of the Panama Canal scheme say that M. de Lesseps is "moving heaven and earth to complete the job." "M. de Lesseps," observes the San Francisco Wasp, "would get on faster if he would move long heaven and move earth."

To the Cuticura Remedies I Owe My Health, My Happiness, and My Life.

A day never passes that I do not think and pray for the Cuticura Remedies. Seven years ago, all of a sudden I found myself, ranging in size from a cherry stone to an orange. The large ones were painful to look at, and the small ones were painful to touch. I was ashamed to be on the street or in society. Physicians and their treatment failed to look at my condition. In a moment of despair I tried the Cuticura Remedies. Cuticura, the great Skin Beautifier, externally, and Cuticura Soap, internally, and I was cured. I had them gradually disappear, and the large ones broke in about two weeks, discharging the quantity of matter, leaving two slight scars in my neck to-day to tell the story of my suffering. My weight then was 115 lbs. I was a very thin man, and I had a very poor appetite. I had never known what sickness is since I commenced using the Cuticura remedy. Sometimes I am lauded at by praising them to people not acquainted with their merits, but sooner or later they will come to their senses and believe the same as those that use them, as dozens have whom I have told. May the time come when there shall be a large Cuticura Supply House in every city in the world for the benefit of humanity, where the Cuticura remedies will be sold only, so that there will be a need of ever entering a drugstore.

Sneezing Catarrh.

The distressing sneeze, sneeze, sneeze, the acid, watery discharges from the eyes and nose, the painful inflammation extending to the throat, the swelling of the mucous lining, causing choking sensations, cough, ragging voice in the throat and spitting blood—how familiar these symptoms are to thousands who suffer periodically from head colds or influenza, and who live in ignorance of the fact that a single application of Sanford's Radical Cure for Catarrh will afford instantaneous relief.

But this treatment in cases of simple Catarrh gives but a faint idea of what this remedy will do in the chronic form, where the breathing is obstructed by choking, purulent mucous accumulations, the hearing affected, smell and taste gone, throat elevated and reaching cough gradually fastening upon the debilitated system. Then it is that the marvelous curative power of Sanford's Radical Cure manifests itself in instantaneous and grateful relief. Cure guaranteed from the application. It is rapid, radical, permanent, economical, safe.

Sanford's Radical Cure consists of one bottle of the Radical Cure, one bottle of the Solvent and an Improved Inhaler, price, $1. POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CO., BOSTON.

THOMSON'S PATENT GLOVE FITTING
ARE STILL TRIUMPHANT!

For fifteen years, they have steadily gained in favor, and with sales constantly increasing have become the most popular wear throughout the United States. The quality is warranted to wear twice as long as ordinary gloves. We have lately introduced the G and H—H grades with Extra Long Wrist, and we can furnish them when preferred. Highest awards from all the World's great fairs. The last medal received for Glove-Fitting was the Gold Medal from the late Exposition held at New Orleans. While scores of patents have been found worthless, the principle of the Glove-Fitting have proved invaluable. Retailers are authorized to refund money, if on examination, these Gloves do not prove as represented. For particulars, send for our Catalogue free on application.

INDIANA

The Rose Institute, The Muffin.
cent Gift of Chauncey Rose to His Fellow Townsman—School Supplies.

Chauncey Rose was a Connecticut youth who roamed to the shores of the Whitefish early in the century. He made money by sawmilling, by turning farm lands into city lots, and by railroad enterprises, till he became more than a millionaire. He lived a bachelor and died one, at the good old age of 88. But he made up for his shortcomings in this life by providing liberally for the wives and children which other men left to the charities of a cold world. He helped many young women educate themselves for teachers. He founded a home for "aged females" and other men's orphans. He more than any one else, brought about the development of the railroad system of western Indiana. He did many other liberal things which go to show that he was a man with a broad head, such as you see in the picture.

But his greatest and best achievement was the Rose Polytechnic Institute at Terre Haute, Ind. He saw, more clearly than many of our alleged college professors do, that the great need of America is advancement in the industrial arts. Our people have plenty of brains. When they learn the technical, and scientific, and industrial arts, as these are taught in Europe, they will be able to stand up against the world. It is not Latin and Greek we want, or the history of the twelve gods of Olympus. We want scientific silk makers, and mining engineers, and adept chemists. We want expert draughtsmen, and map makers, and machinists. When we have men who know how to build railroads properly, then we shall not have our insides bumped out of us every time we take a railroad journey of a thousand miles. To supply these wants the broad-minded and far-seeing Chauncey Rose founded the institution which his grateful fellow townsman insisted on naming for him, willy nilly. In all he gave away more than $1,000,000 for beneficent purposes.

ROSE POLYTECHNIC INSTITUTE.
The Rose Polytechnic Institute has an independent endowment fund of $1,000,000. That, besides its ample and thoroughly equipped buildings and grounds. It is said to be as well fitted up in all the requirements of a scientific school as any of the older polytechnic institutions of the eastern states.

It contains a library of 5,000 volumes of choice scientific works. Many of these were the gift of Josephus Collett, Esq., president of the board of managers. To be exact, the institute is a school of engineering. It gives instruction in mechanical engineering, civil engineering, chemistry, physics and drawing. A department of mining engineering is to be added. Then the establishment will be complete. When these western cities take hold of an enterprise they carry it out with a liberality and a thoroughness that puts the east often to the blush. The equipment for the study of electrical engineering is especially complete. Here is machinery for electricity in a field of study and experiment. The ultimate question now, both in the industrial and scientific world.

THE WORKSHOP.
The foundation plan of instruction is the combination of manual labor with book study and experiment. The young men who graduate here will be able, not only to map out and draft things and "boos" other workmen, but will be fitted to actually take hold with their own hands and perform the labor of their trades if required. In this respect the Rose Institute is equal to any in the world. There are a woodworking shop, machine and blacksmith shops, brass foundry, chemical laboratory, etc. The mechanical engineering department has already invented and put upon the market several screw-cutting, turret lathes and other pieces of iron-working machinery.

The course of instruction lasts four years. To be admitted, a boy must be 16 years old, of good character, and be able to pass examination in grammar, geography, history of the United States, arithmetic, and algebra to quadratics. The next entrance exam will be June 24. Then a fine young class of six men will be prepared to give the world the benefit of their trained brains, eyes and fingers. The difference between these and the ordinary mechanics will be, that while his is good for nothing outside of one little narrow line, they will be for use in resources, and equal to all lines of their particular business.

They will be fitted to take responsible places in machine shops and factories and in the construction of railroads and as mechanical draftsmen.

In chemistry there is a large amount of laboratory practice. In mathematics the course includes the calculus. Sanitary engineering is another feature to which special attention is paid. Wherever the Rose young men go to build houses we may hope that typhoid fever will not be sucked up through the kitchen sinks of their handiwork.

The first president of the institute was the lamented Charles O. Thompson. He was an enthusiast, and gave his whole soul to the work of forwarding industrial science. But he died a year ago. The venerated founder of the school did not live to see the blossom of his work. He died in 1877, and the institute was inaugurated in 1883.

It is said that an economical young man can attend the Rose institute for $300 a year. Tuition is free to residents of the county in which Terre Haute is situated.

ANOTHER ARCTIC EXPLORER.

A Journalist Who Intends to Reach the North Pole.
Early in June Col. W. H. Gilder, an author and journalist, intends to leave New Bedford on a whaler for Hudson's bay. In a recent interview the colonel said:

"I expect to return in 1899, or after an absence of about four years. My New Bedford whaler will take me up to Cape Sabine in 73 days, 45 min., where Greely and his party were rescued. I will then go by some Scotch whaler, which I expect to find in those latitudes in Smith's sound, and which will carry me as much further north as we can find open water. But at any rate there is plenty of animal food in the vicinity of Baird inlet, just to southward of Cape Sabine; and if necessary, instead of making a coast journey on the western side of Smith's sound and Kane basin, I can pass inland and reach Port Conger in latitude 80 degs, 45 min. north, where there are plenty of supplies left by Lieut. Greely and which will be ample for the very polar object I have in view."

How long will it take you to reach this point?
"About a year; and there I shall winter. Then I shall push my way to a northerly direction and seek to make my point of departure at the spot where Lieut. Lockwood was forced to turn backward, or at latitude 83 degs, 24 min., or within 300 miles of the North Pole, the journey to which will require less than thirty days more travel, and I shall make every endeavor subsidiary to this one effort, for therein lies the mystery of the circumpolar world."

Mr. Gilder undertakes this expedition in almost the same manner that Stanley undertook his great African journey across Africa, which ended in 1875 by his discovery of the source of the Congo, and his descent of that great African stream to its debouchment in the Atlantic ocean. Stanley was well equipped scientifically, and had already been known as an African traveler. He did not undertake the greatest land journey of modern times without some knowledge of the enterprise he was about to embark on, nor does Col. Gilder go to the north without an experience, a sound judgment and adequate nerve. His walk across Siberia, his sledge journey with Schenck from North Hudson bay to King William's land and return, including a summer search over King William's land, is the longest on record, covering a distance of 8,350 miles in eleven months and twenty days.

Col. Gilder is a man of stocky physique, amiable disposition, self-confident without egotism, and self-poised without any of the fan-he about him. His constitution has stood every shock that can visit a journalist, explorer and man-of-the-world, and his temperance is every moment that makes dyspepsia of some and tedious narrators of others. He goes about his present undertaking without excitement or solicitude, just as if it were an every-day affair.

Gen. Durbin Ward.
This gentleman, who died recently at his home in Ohio, was a Democrat of almost national reputation. In the political world he could count on getting a thing and then just miss it than any other public man known. He was to have been put forward for the nomination for vice-president on the Hancock ticket, but at the last moment his own state workmen on him and he was left.

GEN. DURBIN WARD.
He was a candidate for congress four times, and was beaten each time. He was defeated for attorney general of Ohio as far back as 1853. In 1883 he was a candidate for the nomination of governor of Ohio, but Judge Handley, who was elected, beat him before the convention. Twice he was the defeated candidate for governor. Once more, two years ago, he sought office at the hands of his party, asking for the United States senatorship. Henry B. Payne defeated him. Again, and for the last time, when President Cleveland was elected, Ward desired to be appointed to a small second-class foreign mission, but even that he could not get.

He was a lawyer by profession and a good one. In youth he was the law partner of Tom Corwin. But he died a poor man. Had he worked at his profession as faithfully as he did for his party his closing years would have been crowned with honors and wealth.

CINCINNATI

The New Lincoln Club House and the Art Museum—Two Dedications, One to Art and the Other to Politics.

Whatever other cities may be or claim, Cincinnati certainly has had the most public-spirited wealthy citizens of any place in the United States. During the month of May two more magnificent buildings were completed and dedicated there, which never would have been constructed only for the liberality of Cincinnati citizens.

One of these is the new Lincoln club house, the finest political club building in the country outside of New York city. The history of the club itself is of interest. It is the most influential Republican organization in Ohio. It has supplied from its members four governors and two lieutenant governors to the state, as well as two United States senators. At every election crowds of citizens assemble inside and outside its walls to get returns. They wait all night often. Every dispatch is read to the throng as fast as it comes in. When one announces a Republican gains the crowd cheers and waits impatiently for the next county to be heard from. When the returns are all in, if it is a Republican victory, a prominent officer in the club climbs out upon the balcony and makes a triumphant speech to the throng, who cheer themselves hoarse. Then a band plays, and people go off and refresh themselves.

The club was founded in February, 1871. They rented what had been a commodious private residence, at the corner of Race and Eighth streets. They occupied it until last fall. Then they bought it and the lot for $40,000. By that time, however, the famous club had outgrown its quarters, and the purchase was made for the purpose of enlarging accommodations. The rear of the house and the Race street front were torn down, and the work of reconstruction began.

The club is a wealthy one, and had a considerable sum of money lying idle. But permission was given to those who desired it to become life members and stockholders on payment of $250. One hundred and thirty-four gentlemen availed themselves of the privilege at once, and an ample sum of money was raised. When the remodeled club house was dedicated this May, there was not a dollar of debt hanging over the organization.

The building is of pressed brick and freestone. Plenty of stained "cathedral glass" is used in the windows and elsewhere, albeit very un-cathedral-like sounds are heard when sometimes these windows are open. The interior arrangements—billiard room, bar, staircase, reading room, etc.—are perfect. There is, however, no electric lighting. Much beautiful marble, gilding, thing and exquisite woodwork are to be seen. What will become of them after a few months' exposure to Cincinnati's soot remains to be seen. The club has a membership of some 600. The large hall will seat 800 persons.

The Cincinnati art museum is of national interest. It clouds the two enterprises of an art museum and a school of design. The school of design has been in existence many years. The museum is properly an outcome of the efforts of a number of Cincinnati women.

The location is unsurpassed. Situated upon a high knob of Eden park, far above the pall of Cincinnati smoke, it has a magnificent river view, which itself inspires a love of the beautiful.

Six years ago the first move was made toward constructing the building. C. W. West, a generous and wealthy bachelor, subscribed $150,000 for it on condition that other citizens of Cincinnati would contribute a like sum. This was done in less than no time. Cincinnatians are ever ready for anything from a mob to a May musical festival.

The location is unsurpassed. Situated upon a high knob of Eden park, far above the pall of Cincinnati smoke, it has a magnificent river view, which itself inspires a love of the beautiful.

DEATH OF THE ONLY PANTARCH.

Sketch of Stephen Pearl Andrews, the Scholar, Writer and Philosopher.

Stephen Pearl Andrews was widely known, more widely twenty years ago than at the time of his death. The world at large is unable to determine whether he was a crank or the founder of a great system of philosophy.

He was a man of the strongest intellectual power. He was one of the leading scholars of his time in this country and in Europe, knowing thirty languages. Had he chosen the field of politics there was nothing to which he might not have aspired. "So with any other field of mental activity. But he chose to give it all up and follow out his own "crank" notion. It was that there is a science of universology, or rather one science of the universe. A natural sciences may be traced back to one common one, all languages are the same, likewise all religions and all governments. They may be brought into the same circle, so to speak, and reduced to one. That one Mr. Andrews called the universal science. He claimed that he had discovered it, and wrote voluminous volumes to expound it.

He had a noble, lionlike head and face, not unlike that of Charles Darwin. His last great work was the building of a universal language, by which all mankind in its common and by once more linguistically in the state in which they are said to have been previous to the building of the Tower of Babel. Mr. Andrews called this language "Alwato." On his system of universology and his Alwato he worked fifty years without interruption. He left his great task at the last unfinished, but in such a forward state that other scholars may take it up and complete it. His system was called pantarchy.

STEPHEN PEARL ANDREWS.

Mr. Andrews was born in Templeton, Mass., in 1813, the son of a Baptist preacher. He graduated at Andover college and studied law. In the practice of his profession he was not a success. He succeeded there in gaining reputation and wealth as a powerful lawyer. He was a first in introduced the celebrated lawsuits of Ayra Clarke Gimes to the courts. In New Orleans also slavery so revolted him and aroused him that he became a moving Abolitionist. Texas was then an independent republic. Mr. Andrews went there and used all the powers of his intellect to prevent its using a slave-holding state. He failed. So he went to England to raise money to buy off the slaves, and get the British government to interfere for freedom. This aroused the attention of the United States government, and President Tyler annexed Texas to the Union. That in turn aroused the Mexicans war. Stephen Pearl Andrews may be said to have caused it.

The pantarch died in New York city at the residence of his son. He had made and lost several fortunes. He was an advocate of liberty in all its forms. He did much of the writing on Woodhull & Claflin's Weekly during the existence of that sheet. He is also believed to have written the lectures delivered by Victoria Woodhull. Mr. Andrews was a Spiritualist.

The Root of the Evil.

To thoroughly cure scrofula it is necessary to strike directly at the root of the evil. This is exactly what Hood's Sarsaparilla does, by acting upon the blood, thoroughly cleansing it of all impurities, and leaving not even a taint of scrofula in the vital fluid. Thousands who have been cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla, testify to its wonderful blood-purifying qualities. Sold by all druggists.

George M. Hipple, of New Albany, who desires to be a candidate for representative in the general assembly, announces that he will not be a Knight of Labor candidate, as it is not a political organization.

In the Hop Plasters the virtues of fresh hops are combined with strengthening and stimulating balsams, and its cure of weak back, pain in the side, rheumatism, neuralgia or pain in the chest are simply marvelous, it being more efficacious and thorough than any liniment or liquid remedy. You'll say so after using.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferers at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub wakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain from loose wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Jan. 10-1904.

The Canadian Cardinal.

ARCHBISHOP TASCHEREAU.

On the receipt recently of the announcement that Archbishop Taschereau had been elevated to the honor of a place in the college of cardinals, the people of Quebec celebrated the event by pyrotechnic displays. Here as elsewhere throughout Canada commemorative services were held in the churches to show their appreciation of their old prelate. The reason for it all is that this kindly old man has, for the forty-four years that he has been a priest and shepherd among them, given his time, talents and even offered his life in their behalf. One of his first acts after his elevation to the ministry was to give his services to the sick and dying in the hospitals of Quebec. It was in 1847, when an epidemic of typhus fever in its most aggravated form broke out among the emigrants and they were lying by the hundreds in these hospitals. The young Father Taschereau begged to be allowed to minister to them. His wish was granted, and he himself suffered the awful malady. His life was spared, though, to offer it many times since to the service of the needy. Father Taschereau's self-sacrifices were all the more commendable from the fact of his distinguished family connections. His mother was one of the most distinguished in lower Canada, his father was a leading member of parliament. His brother, Jean Thomas Taschereau, was on the supreme court bench of Canada. His nephew Eusebe is at present on the bench of that court, another nephew, Henri T., being a judge of the superior court of Quebec, and a third, Lere, is a member of the Canadian commons.

Cardinal Taschereau was born near Quebec. It is now in his 83d year. He was ordained a priest at the age of 23. He was subsequently appointed professor of mental philosophy, director of studies and superior of the Seminary of Quebec. He was made professor of canon law in Laval university in 1855, and administrator of the diocese in 1859. He was consecrated archbishop of Quebec March 19, 1871. He sums high in his church as a theologian. His cardinal's barrette arrives about June 10, and is the official insignia of the privilege which he now has of voting for or even becoming the successor of Leo XIII as pope.

WOMEN DOCTORS ABROAD

(Special Correspondence.)

LONDON, May 18.—Two women graduates of the New York Eclectic College of Medicine, Dr. Emma W. Hiley and Dr. Chase, created something of a sensation in Glasgow recently, by being the first women doctors ever admitted to practice in the Glasgow infirmaries. There are two colleges and infirmaries there, the Western, connected with the university, and the Royal, the largest in Great Britain and over 100 years old. Dr. Hiley devoted herself to the surgical ward, while Dr. Chase chose the medical wards. The chief surgeon of the Royal had never even seen a woman doctor, though he received them with great courtesy. The gawky Scotch students were respectful, but dumb with amazement. In external applications the Glasgow doctors are believed in internal treatment they have not gravitated a great distance from the drug age.

Dr. Hiley was a resident of Cincinnati during several years. She is the wife of Warren Hiley, who was judge of the police court there. Less than three years ago the Hiley's located in New York, his judge devoting himself to the law, while Mr. Hiley took up the study of medicine, and in two winters in college accomplished what usually takes a student three and sometimes four seasons to acquire. She is now abroad, devoting herself to hospital practice, and in the coming autumn will open an office in New York for the regular practice of her profession.

She does this from love of the practice of medicine, not from necessity. It is a noticeable and a significant fact that the women who are the growth of the present day, as it were, take very strongly to careers of activity in the professions. They are fond of laurels, and go homely to work to win them. The times are more propitious for them than ever before. Public sentiment is broadening, and avenues are opening to women that have long been open only to the sex of blundered apparel. Let us take courage, the world moves.

THE CITY.

Miner Krick and Lydia A. Wright
have been licensed to wed.

Hon. T. P. Keator is expected home
from the east Sunday morning.

The Muncie road will make a sweep-
ing change in the running of their trains
to-morrow.

Mrs. Gust Rabus will leave in a short
time for Denver, Col., to visit friends
for six weeks.

Hon. I. D. G. Nelson returned to Indianapolis to-day. Mrs. Nelson will remain in the city some time.

Cas Hunter will take a party of friends
out fishing this evening. Bob Shont
and Charley McLain go with him.

Sophia Reehling et al sue Rosina
Ropp for a partition of property. P. B.
Colerick is counsel for the claimant.

Tramps robbed the pantry or dairy
room at Mr. Thomas Jackson's residence
on Fairfield avenue night before last.

Two vagrants just released from jail
were sent back this morning for begging
over.

Ed. Hunsacker won the championship
badge at the shooting tournament at White's range yesterday. He proudly
wears it.

Henry C. Berghoff sues Andrew J.
Link et al. for $250 on a note. Coler-
ick and Oppenheim are attorneys for the
claimant.

A new time card went into effect on
the Pittsburg road last Sunday. The
traveling public should note the change
in the SUNDAY time table.

The Pittsburg road has put on a new
train called the Crestline accommodation, leaving here at 11 a. m. and arriving near Crestline at 7 p. m.

Fred Dow by Judge O'Rourke. The
people are old and Dow is said to have
starved and driven his wife from home.

A change of time takes effect on the Grand Rapids road to-morrow. The
morning train north will leave twenty
minutes earlier, and the afternoon train
one hour and fifteen minutes earlier.

Sheriff Nelson brought from Indianap-
olis Lucine Boley, who was an inmate
of the insane asylum for four years. She
is better and is with her sister, on Melita
street. Her home is at Academy Station.

The last will of Gustave Miller is filed
for probate. He gives his daughters $800 each and to his sons $400 each. The
money is to be paid in installments. Fred Hartman is bondaman in the sum of $800.

Yard Master N. E. Cook, of Andrews,
and A. M. Schmidt, of this city, expect
to leave to-morrow evening, on train 43,
for St. Paul, Minn., to attend the Yard-
masters Mutual Benefit association.
They go via Lafayette junction, taking
the Chicago, Indianapolis, St. Louis and Cincinnati railway to Chicago, and the
Chicago and Northwestern railway to
St. Paul. These roads will recognize
all members of the association upon presentation of their credentials.

Girls of marriageable age do not like
to say how old they are, but you can
find out by following the subjoined instructions, the young lady to do the
figuring: Tell her to put down the
number of the month in which she was
add 5; then to multiply by 50; then to
add her age; then subtract 365; then add 115; then have her tell you the amount
she has left. The two figures to the
right will denote her age, and the remainder the month of birth. For example, the amount is 822; she is 22 years
old, and was born in the eighth month
(August).

There was a big band tournament at Huntschtown to-day.

A number of the programs of Island
city.

Dr. H. V. Swearingen will lecture at the M. E. church at Huntington next
Tuesday evening.

This is P. T. Barnum's farewell tour.
He says he will transport his show to Europe next year.

"Fort Wayne has abandoned the idea
of holding a soldiers' re-union this year,"
says the Wabash Courier.

The funeral of Frank Wohlfram, aged
four years, will occur to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from No. 309 Broad-
way.

Mr. C. O. Essig, the genial bill clerk
of the Adams Express company, will
shortly lead to the altar a blushing bride
in the person of Miss Ella Brooks.

Beginning June 14, the congregation
of St. Mary's Catholic church will hold a
fair and festival, to continue for ten evenings, at Library hall. Busy hands are
now at work on novelties for the bazaar.

The Catholic Knights of America will
run an excursion train to Cincinnati on Saturday, June 26. They will give a street parade in the evening before starting.

Adjutant General Koontz inspected
the Fort Wayne military companies last
night and expressed himself as pleased.
Col. C. A. Munson accompanied General
Koontz.

A well authenticated rumor is being
circulated that the Ohio Falls Car company will shortly secure the building of
company.

die's auxiliary, R. R. Y. M. C. A., Friday
evening next. The object is to give the
public an opportunity of seeing the great
improvements made in the rooms.

The large Wabash pile driver that has
been in progress of construction for several months has been placed on a flat
car built at the Toledo shops expressly
for it, and will shortly be ready for service.

Mr. Charley Brackenridge has been appointed general agent for an interesting book detailing Lieut. Greeley's arctic
expedition. There are 100 steel engravings in the book and the work is
artistic.

The car report for May, 1886, shows
an increase of 924 cars sent out of the Wabash Andrews yards over the corresponding period last year. The totals
for the month were 6,845 loads, 1,161
empty.

Pentecost Sunday, one week from tomorrow, there will be a class of 125 for
first communion at the cathedral, and
the number for confirmation in the four Catholic churches will be 250. These
are great events for the young people.

Judge Hench made these rulings yesterday: Hester A. Wood vs. Mary A.
Dereham; finding for the plaintiff for $862.25, and for the defendant, August
Lorider, for $336.40, and that both morgages are equal liens, and foreclosure of
mortgage.

Supt. C. W. Stevens and Traffic
Manager S. B. Sweet, of the Wabash,
were at Huntington this week, in consultation with interested parties regarding the putting in of additional switches
at the lime kilns.

"Doc, Bookwater and wife came down from Fort Wayne Sunday. They were the guests of E. F. Luse and wife,
northwest of this city, besides attending
the Decoration day exercises at Roanok.
On Monday Mr. and Mrs. Bookwater
gave the Plain Dealer office a pleasant
call," says the Wabash Plain Dealer.

To-morrow the Brotherhood of Loco-
motive Engineers will run an excursion
from this city to Jackson, Mich., where
a general meeting of the order is to be held. Grand Chief Arthur will preside.
Engineers from Huntington and Andrews will join the Fort Wayne party.
The Lake Shore has tendered the boys a special train from Fort Wayne to Toledo.

"Miss Katie Eunis was married in the Catholic cathedral at Fort Wayne, Tuesday, to a Mr. Laner of that place. The bride and groom came to this city the
same day and were given a reception at the residence of John Eunis, the bride's father. Quite a number of friends were
present and many presents were made,"
says the North Manchester Journal.

The Wabash has adopted a new plan
of numbering the miles on the line of
the road. Instead of the mile posts
along the track, a V shaped board is
nailed to a telegraph pole on the north
side. The western side of this board
gives the distance to St. Louis, and the eastern side the distance to Toledo. This
is much better than the old plan, as it
enables the passengers to read the distances with greater ease than formerly.

"On Friday Mr. Jacob Bruner, of this
city, attended the shooting tournament
at Fort Wayne and took part in eleven
matches, coming out winner in ten of
them. The thermometer invariably
marks a very low temperature when Mr.
ment. Bob Magee, another Wabash
"wing shot," also took a prominent part
in the Fort Wayne shoot, and did moderately well," says the Wabash Courier.

City Assessor Reese is closing his books.

The city board of equalization meets
July 5.

Read Talmadge's sermon in to-day's supplement.

The Barnum show is playing to great business this season.

The Odd Fellows will observe Decoration Day June 11.

Mrs. Con Dasher, of East Lewis street, is quite ill. She has typhoid fever.

Mrs. T. P. Keator, society editress of the Gazette, is at home from Chicago.

Mr. J. M. McConnell, the Wabash ticket agent, was at Lafayette yesterday.

Prof. Phil Keints is going to lead the Van Wert band at a big Ohio reunion
next week.

In some cities the Knights Templar observe Ascension Day by decorating
the graves of the dead Sir Knights.

Mr. John McClave, of Lafayette township, was seriously injured at Greendridge,
Mo. He was en route home from Texas.

Emma, the four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rehling, of Madison street, is very ill with typhoid fever.

Supt. Geo. F. Felts did not meet with the county superintendents of the state at Indianapolis. He attended to his business here.

The Jeffersonian club met last night
in its pleasant quarters. A committee was appointed to secure the names of 200 incorporators.

There were 176 quick delivery letters handled in the Fort Wayne postoffice during May. Thirty-one were cared for so far this week.

Railroad Y. M. C. A. Excursion on Wednesday, June 16. A jolly time is expected. Tickets $1, at the office. The object is to provide new bath tubs.

Saloon men in this city have received
circulars inviting them into a state protective association for the purpose of
fighting high license as a political issue.

Hon. Wm. Fleming will build a big business block on the northwest corner of Brackenridge and Calhoun streets. The high board fence was taken down this
morning.

"Mrs. Randall, wife of Hon. Frank P.
Randall, of Fort Wayne, is the guest of
Mrs. John M. Godown, No. 418 North
Pennsylvania street," says the Indianapolis Times.

"Elder Lynch, of Fort Wayne, delivered an eloquent sermon Sunday evening at the U. B. church. Subject,
"Cause of the late rebellion and the benefits derived therefrom," says the Decatur Democrat.

"John Heister, the old bachelor living
west of the city, was married to Miss Kate Shaley, of Fort Wayne, last Saturday morning at the Cathedral in that city. Democrat extends the usual congratulations," says the Decatur Democrat.

The third of Dr. Talmadge's "Labor
Question" sermons, discussing "The
Genuine Hardships of the Working Classes," was delivered at Brooklyn and
is published by THE SENTINEL together
with other religious literature and news.

"S. W. Dodge, of Fort Wayne, was in this city Monday last on business connected with the Grand Rapids and Indiana railroad. Mr. Dodge is a favorite
with the boys on the road. While here
he was escorted over the city by W. W.
Huntzman," says the Decatur Demo-
crat.

"James B. Harper, United States
commissioner, of Fort Wayne, was in this city on legal business. Jim is a jolly old bachelor and we can't understand why he remains in that lonesome,
unnatural state. Perhaps he knows, yet
won't tell," says the Decatur Democrat.

Mr. George W. Thiebold, car inspect-
or of the Nickel Plate at New Haven,
has been elected a member of the town
school board, beating "Squire O. D.
Rogers. The board has been reorganized by the election of C. A. Miller,
president; George W. Thiebold, secretary, and H. G. Schnolker, treasurer.

"The Lutheran people are opposed to
litigation between their members. Perhaps that is due to the fact that so few Lutherans engage in the legal profession. There is not a Lutheran attorney at the Logansport bar. All differences between members of that society are settled within the church—a
very sensible system," says the Logans-
port Pharos.

Heretofore nearly all of the local business of the Wabash going to Detroit and Toledo has been given to the Grand Trunk. An arrangement has just been
perfected by which the Michigan Central and Lake Shore will get the greater portion of that business. By guaranteeing the Wabash better divisions of the traffic than it used to get that company
has been induced to rejoin the Red Line,
which runs over the Lake Shore, and
the Blue Line, which runs over the Michigan Central. This arrangement
went into effect June 1, and in this Toledo may have a chance to regain her old
prestige though she has little faith in the Wabash. This will send most of the business through Fort Wayne.

The weather indications for Indiana
are local rains followed by fair weather.

Warren Elwood, of Chicago, is the guest of John L. Robbins, of No. 20
Murray street.

Rev. Father Dahm, of Avilla, was in the city yesterday. A good story is related at his expense.

Henry Rust has taken out a permit to
erect a frame barn on lot 1 Bond's sub-
addition, to cost $275.

Phillip Rehm was arrested to-day for
assault on Charlotte Hess, his aunt. Justice France heard the case.

The Wabash pay car was at Danville,
Ill., to-day and will probably arrive here
next Tuesday or Wednesday.

The sheriff has a writ to eject Asbury Todd, of Massillon. Christ Yous intin-
d the suit to demand $500.

Harvey Brokaw, a conductor on the Grand Rapids and Indiana railroad, is
sick with scarlet fever. His child died
of the same disease a few days ago.

The people along South Calhoun street
are anxious that the poundmaster stroll
up that way. The officer says it is next
to impossible to get a herd of cows across
the railroads.

DOSSED HERSELF.

Mrs. Dan McGinnis Dies From
a Mysterious Cause.

The papers have noted the serious illness of Mrs. Dan McGinnis, wife of the roofer, who is well known in the city. They live a mile from town and it seems that Mrs. McGinnis, who is a
sufferer, made use of some potion.
She had locked herself in her room
and some parties heard a strange noise.
They rushed upstairs, broke in the door and found Mrs. McGinnis lying
in death's agonies on the floor. Four
doctors were instantly called, but their
efforts to save the woman were of no
avail. She died last evening.

The woman leaves twin babies eight months old. She was acted as a medium
in a circle of spiritualists and it is said
her father Mr. Kiser died from poison.
The coroner had not acted on the case
at noon, and maybe he will not as Dr. A.
P. Buchman attended the woman and says she most probably died from apinal
meningitis.

BOLD WORK.

Tramps Raid Two Stores in Nebraska.

The tramps have been unusually bold
for a week and their raids have been
frequent, but of a trivial sort. Last
night they broke into a cigar store kept
by a son of Joe Fry, in Nebraska. They
took from him a lot of plug tobacco, 150
cigars and other stuff. They broke into a shoe store near by and stole a $9 pair
of boots and two pair of boots left there
for repair.

The sheriff and his men and Marshal
Meyer and deputies made a raid on the
tramps at every point in the city, but
no trace of the stolen articles could be found. Eight tramps were arrested, but
all save three of them were let go. It is the purpose of the officers to clean the
town out.

The New Switch Device on the
Pittsburg Railway.

It is reported that the Pittsburg and
Fort Wayne Railroad company is fitting
its line between Pittsburg and Chicago
with patent interlocking switches and
signals, by means of which the company
expects to save several hours in the
movement of trains in its yards and increase the safety of passengers. A tower
will be built at Allegheny, Pa., where an
operator can throw the switches and signals with one movement of a lever.
There will be forty-four levers and two
wheels. The system is said to be superior to that in use on the Pennsylvania
railroad.

"We have sold your preparation for rheumatism, Athlaphora, for the past year with perfect satisfaction to our-
Smiley & Brown, of Maple Park, Ill.,
shows a mutual satisfactory state of affairs in that sylvan town.

New crinkle dress goods arriving daily
at the Boston store.

Ladies' Muslin Underwear at cost
price at Mergentheim's Bazaar, north-

Not to Late to Decorate.

As this season of the year housewives
are busily engaged cleaning houses and
re-arranging furniture, etc., for the summer; and what would be nicer at the
same time than to decorate the rooms
and ceilings of their residences. At this
time you can do more for the money
than at any time in the future. The
prices at which wallpaper is now selling,
will not last over another season. Take advantage of the opportunity. Have it done at once. But remember there is but one man in Fort Wayne that can offer such low prices and give you
first class work, and that is Yorgens, 136 Broadway. Call on him.

Strayed.
From my residence, city, a black buggy
mare. No mark. Medium short mane,
long, light tail. I will pay a liberal reward to learn her whereabouts.

Dress Up.

"Tis not the clothes altogether that makes the man, but to look like a gentleman he must be provided with a nice stylish hat. To get the correct thing and be in keeping with the prevailing style, you should go to Golden & Mon-ahan's and select something from their large and varied assortment of summer headwear. They are also exclusive agents in this city for the celebrated Dupont hats, which are the leaders.
